HENRY WILSON.

Death of the Vice President of the United States.

Apoplexy the Cause.

The Last Hours of the Deceased Statesman.

Mourning Throughout the Country.

WASHINGTON, November 22.—Vice President Wilson died very suddenly at half-past seven o'clock this morning. He rested well last night, awoke at seven A. M., and expressed himself as feeling bright and b tter. He sat up in bed to take his medici e t lay down on his left side, and expired i ne, few moments without a struggle.

It having been represented last night that Vice President Wilson had somewhat improved, and that he would be able to leave the city for the North this week, the intelligence of his sudden death this morning fell with startling force and suddenness on the community.

The Vice President seemed on Sunday to be a great deal better than at any time during his late sickness, but yesterday he was not so well. Postmaster Burt, of Boston, called on him in the forenoon and had a pleasant conversation with him. Mr. Crossman, of the New York Literary Friend, also visited the Vice President on business concerning the unfinished volume on the subject of slavery. The Vice President being in a condition requiring rest, Mr. Crossman retired. He then slept from one till three o'clock, when he rose. Mr. Crossman returned in the afternoon at the Vice President's request, and remained until the evening. He went to bed at an early hour, and slept tolerably well during the night. In his waking intervals he asked for water. About midnight he got up and walked around his room, then going to his table, took up a little book of poems entitled "The Changed Cross," with the motto "Not as I will, but as Thou Wilt," and read three verses from it, one of which is as follows:

"Help us, O Lord, with patient love, to bear
Each other's faults, to suffer with true meekness;
Help us each other's joys and griefs to share,
But let us turn to Thee alone in weakness."

Other verses had been marked in the book, among them the following:

"What if poor sinners count their grief,
The sign of an unchastened will;
He who can give thy soul relief
Knows that thou art submissive still."

This volume belonged to his wife and contained a photograph of her, and their son, both deceased. He treasured it beyond value, and always made it his companion, from which he seemed to derive much comfort. After reading the verses he spoke with gratitude of the kindness of his friends during the sickness and of the widespread sympathy in his behalf. He then returned to bed in a happy mood and slept."

Getting Worse.

At three o'clock this morning he awoke, complaining of pain in his stomach. One of his attendants rubbed it, and being thus relieved, he again fell asleep. At seven o'clock he awoke, remarking that he felt better and brighter than at any time previously. He said that he was going to ride out to-day, as his physician, Dr. Baxter, advised him to do so if the weather was fair. At twenty minutes past seven o'clock he said that he would get up, and take breakfast. He then called for bitter water, which had heretofore been prescribed, and having drank it he laid down with his left side on the pillow as if taken with sudden exhaustion, breathing heavily, but uttering no words, and in a few minutes

Died without a Struggle.

The body has been laid out in the Vice President's room. A meeting of the Senators now here, members of the Cabinet and the Judges of the Supreme Court was called to meet at noon to take action, and the friends of the deceased in Massachusetts have been advised of the solemn event.

Cabinet Meeting Called.

The President was notified of the Vice President's death about nine o'clock, and immediately called a special meeting of the Cabinet for 10:30, at which time all the members were present, except Secretary Robeson, who is absent from the city. Secretary Fish was requested to attend a meeting of the Senators, in the city, at noon, on the part of the President and Cabinet, to make arrangements for the funeral ceremonies. After the programme for the funeral shall have been perfected by the meeting, the President will be notified by the Secretary of State and an Executive order will be issued announcing the death of the Vice President, and ordering the Departments to be closed, and other suitable marks of respect to be shown to the memory of the deceased.

Marks of Respect.

The flag of the Senate is at half mast, and so are all those of the public and many of the private buildings throughout the city.

The Supreme Court adjourned, upon assembling, until to-morrow, and all the Justices proceeded to the Senate wing of the Capitol to participate in a meeting of Senators to make arrangements for the funeral of the Vice President.

The result of the proceedings was that a committee to make arrangements for the funeral was appointed. The committee consists of the following gentlemen: Senators Boutwell, of Massachusetts, Sherman, of Ohio, Morrill, of Vermont, the Secretary of State, Associate Justice Clifford, Representatives Garfield, of Ohio, Warren, of Massachusetts, and Randall, of Pennsylvania, Commissioner Dennison representing the District of Columbia. The committee subsequently met and adjourned to meet at the State Department to-morrow morning, to await the arrival of Senator Boutwell and a consultation with the authorities of Massachusetts.

Additional Details.

The following additional details are obtained from T. A. Boyden and F. A. Wood, who were alternately the Vice President's attendants throughout last night. Boyden is a Lieutenant of the Capitol Police, selected by Mr. Wilson to be with him as much as possible on account of their old friendship, formed a number of years ago in Natick:

Yesterday evening, between six and eight o'clock, the Vice President said: "If the doctor were here I'd have a blister put on the back of my neck instead of this plaster." Mr. Wood replied that he could manage that simple matter without the doctor, to which Mr. Wilson rejoined: "Yes, but I don't want to take the responsibility." The attendant then asked him if he would not like to have a message sent to the doctor, but said, after thinking a moment, "No, it isn't worth while." Shortly afterwards he requested Wood to send to a friend (Mrs. Carpenter) for another bottle of Cape of Good Hope grape juice, from which he thought he had derived some benefit, and at eight o'clock he signified his readiness to be prepared for sleep. Boyden and Wood then gently rubbed and manipulated his feet, limbs and back as usual, at intervals, until half-past nine o'cl ck. During the process Mr. Wilson was very cheerful and said he felt uncommonly well. At 9:30 he fell asleep and between that hour and midnight woke only once and took a drink of ice water, and fell asleep again almost instantly. At twelve o'clock he got up and walked across the room a little and read and walked awhile. When he laid down the book of religious poems he marked the place where he had left off reading with a clipping from the New York Herald of November 11th, comprising the editorial of that day in regard to himself. Between the time of his going to sleep again and three o'clock he gave no sign of waking except once, when in a half conscious, slumbering condition he asked his attendant to pull up the bed clothes a little. At three A. M. he woke and had Boyden rub his breast. He dropped asleep again very soon, and slept until almost precisely seven o'clock, when he woke and made remarks about his feeling so uncommonly well.

Mr. Wood, coming in at this moment, was privately consulted by Mr. Boyden as to the advisability of communicating to the Vice President the news of Senator Ferry's death, and concluded it would be best to mention the fact, because Mr. Wilson would be certain to read it in the newspapers a few minutes later. They accordingly introduced the subject of Mr. Ferry's illness, and mentioned the morning's news. The Vice President was prepared for it, and expressed no surprise, but said, "Poor Ferry, he has been a great sufferer." He spoke of Senator Ferry's political services in terms of high commendation, characterizing him as an able, active and useful man. He also talked about Mr. Ferry's early life and about his last election, and added "that makes eighty-three dead with whom I have sat in the Senate. What a record! I don't think many now living can say the same, unless, perhaps, it is Hamlin, of Maine. If I live to the end of my present term I shall be the sixth in the history of the country who have served so long a term."

After remarking about his good night's rest he looked up with a cheerful smile and playfully said: "I'm a pretty bright looking boy this morning, aunt?"

His death, coming but a few minutes after all these evidences of remarkable improvement and rapid recovery, could not at first be realized by his attendants, and it was not until the arrival of Dr. C. M. Ford, who resides in the neighborhood, and who had been instantly sent for, that the melancholy fact found any credence.

Official Announcement.

The following order, announcing the death of Vice President Wilson, was issued by the President this afternoon:

The eminent station of the deceased, his high character, his long career in the service of his State, and of the Union, his devotion to the cause of freedom, and the ability which he brought to the discharge of every duty, stand conspicuous, and are indelibly impressed in the hearts and affections of the American people. In testimony of respect for this distinguished citizen and faithful public servant, the various departments of the Government will be closed on the day of the funeral, and the Executive Mansion, and all the Executive departments in Washington will be draped with badges of mourning for thirty days. A Funeral Escort from Maryland.

BALTIMORE, November 22.—The following telegram has been sent to Washington: "HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE INFANTRY, M. N. G., BALTIMORE, November 22.—U. S. Grant, President of the United States: Understanding that the remains of Vice President Wilson will pass through Baltimore, I respectfully tender any escort which may be acceptable to you or his friends.
JAMES R. HERBERT, Brig. Gen. Com'dg.

At a meeting of the officers of the Fifth Regiment M. N. Lieutenant Col. Pontier, Quartermaster of the regiment, then proceeded to Washington to offer its services for the sad duty. A committee was also appointed to make the necessary arrangements in case the tender is accepted.

The Funeral of the late Vice President will probably take place on Wednesday.

The Supreme Court of the United States will not transact business this week, owing to its interruption by the death of Vice President Wilson, and the observance of Thanksgiving Day.

Response from Massachusetts.

The following telegram was received by Sergeant-at-Arms French, of the Senate, from the Governor of Massachusetts:

"BOSTON, November 22.—Your telegram announcing the death of Vice President Wilson is received. Massachusetts deeply mourns her loss, but in the midst of her grief she is proud of his pure character and his distinguished public services.
[Signed.] "WM. GASTON."

Mourning in the Army.

WASHINGTON, November 22.—In compliance with the order of the President directing that appropriate military and naval honors be rendered to the memory of Vice President Wilson, the following order was issued by the Secretary of War this afternoon:

"On the day succeeding the receipt of this order at each military post, the troops will be paraded at 10 o'clock A. M., and the order read to them. The National flag will be displayed at half staff at dawn of day. Thirteen guns will be fired, commencing at 12 M. Seventeen minute guns will be fired, and at the close of the day a national salute of thirty-seven guns. The usual badge of mourning will be worn by officers of the army, and the colors of the several regiments will be put in mourning for a period of three months."

An appropriate order will be issued by the Secretary of the Navy to-morrow.

The Body Lying in State.

The embalmed remai s of Mr. Wilson have been laid in state in the Vice President's room on a catafalque, which occupies the place where the writing table stood at which he did all his work. The body, attired in a dress suit of black broadcloth, faces Rembrandt Peale's portrait of Washington, and beside it are a wreath of tea roses, japonicas, calla lillies, white pinks and heiobtropes from the wife of the President, and a cross of white flowers from General Babcock. The room is guarded by a detail of Capitol police, among them a colored man who also stood by the bier of Senator Sumner.

Delegation from Boston.

Sergeant-at-Arms French has received telegrams announcing that Gen. Cunningham, of the staff of the Governor of Massachusetts, and Messrs. Dunn and Turner, representing the Boston City Council, start for Washington to-night, and that Senator Boutwell starts to-morrow morning.

The Date of the Funeral Not Settled.

The date for the Vice President's funeral is not yet settled. It is the desire of some of his friends to defer it until Congress assembles, but the question will probably be determined by the nephew and executor, W. L. Coalidge, of Natick, who is yet to be heard from on the subject.

President Grant called at the capitol this afternoon, but as the process of embalming was then in progress, he retired without seeing the remains.

Eulogies.

The Massachusetts State Republican Association in this city held a meeting to-night, at which eulogies were pronounced and resolutions adopted commemorative of the Vice President's life and character.

Gloom at Natick.

BOSTON, November 22.—The news of Mr. Wilson's death was received at his late home, Natick, about 9 A. M. Bulletins were posted announcing the fact, and general gloom fell upon the citizens. The unostentatious residence of the deceased, which was to have received him for the Thanksgiving holiday, is now being prepared for the reception of his body. His wife and family are buried at Natick, and Mr. Wilson will also be buried there.

The News in Other Cities.

PHILADELPHIA, November 22.—The City Council was in session when the news of the death of the Vice President was received, and appropriate resolutions were adopted. The use of Independence Hall was offered for the reception of his body on his way to Massachusetts.

NEW YORK, November 22.—The unexpected news of the death of Vice President Wilson gave a shock to this community, and was for a brief time received with doubt, but the quick confirmation of its truthfulness dispelled the doubt, which gave place to a general feeling of sadness. The national flag was placed at half mast upon all the newspaper offices and Government buildings—Federal, State and municipal. Several of the courts adjourned, and in all a minute was made of the loss sustained by the death of the Vice President.

BOSTON, November 22.—Governor Gaston officially announces the death of the Vice President, and in his announcement says: "The loss of this pure and distinguished statesman and honest man will be the cause of great mourning throughout the country, and especially in the State in which he resided, where he was best known, and therefore most highly honored."

BALTIMORE, November 22.—The announcement of the sudden and unexpected death of Vice President Wilson was a shock to the community. The flags on City Hall, Government buildings, a number of business houses, including the offices of daily papers, and shipping are at half mast in respect to his memory. The United States Circuit Court was adjourned after the announcement of the Vice President's death.

NEW ORLEANS, November 22.—The flags at military headquarters and the newspaper offices are at half mast in respect for the memory of Vice President Wilson.

LITTLE ROCK, November 22.—The announcement of the death of Vice President Wilson was received while the Senate was in session to-day, and that body immediately adjourned out of respect to his memory.

SECOND EDITION

FROM WASHINGTON.

Annual Report of General Sherman.

The Mexican Border Outrages.

Reprisals Advised by General Ord.

WASHINGTON, November 22, 1875.

Annual Report of General Sherman.

The annual report of General Sherman, after stating the geographical limits of the various commands, says: The aggregate strength of the line of the army, according to the last report received, is 6,154 officers and 24,031 enlisted men, made up as follows: Ten regiments of artillery, 270 officers and 2,504 men; ten regiments of cavalry, 422 officers and 7,206 men; twenty-five regiments of infantry, 848 officers and 11,000 men; available recruits, hospital stewards, ordnance sergeants, &c., &c., 3,321.

During the past winter the troops in the Departments of Missouri and Texas were employed in an arduous and severe winter campaign against the Indians on the border of the Staked Plains, that have for years been engaged in depredations on the Texas and Kansas frontiers, resulting in their disarmament and subject to authority. If military commanders can have control over the supplies needed by these Indians, as they now have over their persons, I am convinced, by a recent visit, that a condition of peace can be maintained. The Sioux Indians have recently made incursions into Northern Nebraska, mostly to steal cattle and horses from farms along the Pacific Railroad, and north of it. General Crooke is of the opinion that the whole army acting defensively cannot prevent incursions, and suggests that troops be stationed in the midst of the Indians, so as to watch and prevent them leaving on the pretense of hunting. This is impracticable, unless the army can have supervision of the necessary supplies of these tribes within the reservation, which is now not the case. The reports of the several commissioners which have under military escort recently been engaged in exploring the country and in negotiating with the Indians will throw much light on this subject. Generally speaking the damage to life and property by Indians is believed to be less during the past year than in any former year, and the prospect is that as the country settles up it will be less and less each year until all the Indians are established on small reservations. But until they acquire habits of industry, in farming or stock raising, they will need food from the General Government, because the game on which they have hitherto subsisted has diminished very rapidly.

Mexican Border Outrages.

General Ord, in command of the Department of Texas, in his annual report, gives a lengthy account of the border operations of the Mexican banditti, most of which has been anticipated by press publications. The report closes with the following suggestions: More effectual means must be adopted than sending troops to look on while our people are being despoiled and murdered, for it is very evident that the soldiers, however willing, can do nothing if confined to this side of the river, and an order to make reprisals, with means to carry out the order, has sometimes resulted in indemnity as well as security.

THE M'DONALD TRIAL.

The Accused Found Guilty on All the Counts of the Indictments.

ST. LOUIS, November 22.—To-day has been dev ted to speeches by the counsel in the McDonald trial. Judge Chester H. Krum spoke for the defense, and Col. Dyer, District Attorney, for the prosecution. The case was then given to the jury, who, after a consultation of nearly two hours, returned a verdict of guilty on all the counts of the indictment, eight in number. Judge Krum asked that the jury be polled, which was done, and each juryman replied affirmatively to the question whether it was his verdict. District Attorney Dyer then asked the court to sentence the prisoner or order him into custody of the Marshal. Judge Treat replied that as the law prescribes the maximum and minimum amount of punishment, and leaves only limited discretionary powers, he would not pass sentence in any case whether defendant may have pleaded guilty or is convicted by a jury, until he has heard the evidence in all the cases now awaiting trial. In the meantime the defendant will be ordered into the custody of the Marshal. Judge Krum asked if the court would take further bail for his appearance. He is now under $15,000 bail. The Court answered that he would require $50,000. Judge Krum said that amount could not be obtained to-night, and the prisoner was given in charge of Deputy Marshal Stevens. Judge Krum will probably make a motion respecting bail to-morrow morning on the opening of the court. Regarding the punishment, the maximum imprisonment is three years on each count, and the minimum is six months. As to the fine, the discretion of the court is almost unlimited.

TEMPERANCE EVANGELISTS.

Meetings Conducted by Two Pittsburgh Ladies on the Moody and Sankey Plan.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

SALEM, O., Nov. 20, 1875.

On Thursday night the series of Evangelical Temperance Meetings conducted by Mrs. Althea Hill and Miss L. A. Haller, of Pittsburgh, under the auspices of the Sons of Temperance of this place, were brought to a close. The meetings began on Sunday night in the Presbyterian church, and were continued from night to night in the different churches, on the Moody and Sankey plan. They were productive of much good, the interest being at its highest pitch on the night upon which the meetings were, owing to conflicting church arrangements, brought (for the time) to an end. We say for the time, because it is the intention of the friends of the cause here to have them return in the future and continue their labors in the same manner. Mrs. Hill's power as a public speaker is in her intense earnestness. She evidently believes what she preaches, and is pitiless in her arraignment of party, church and State for their complicity in the perpetuation of the dram shop. She is relentless in proclaiming the temperance reform to be the proper work of the Christian church, and that the church is failing to do its work, which is being taken up by free thinkers and infidels, and by them pushed forward and fearlessly advocated, while the church, to its shame, sits by with folded hands. Her utterances awakened a deep response in the hearts of her thoughtful hearers, and it is doubtful if any speaker ever made a deeper impression upon the temperance community. Miss Haller's readings and recitations were well received, as were her songs and lectures. Together these two ladies make a strong team for the work which they have chosen and to which they feel themselves called. The idea itself is somewhat a novelty, an innovation and a vast improvement upon the popular notion of temperance meetings in which one or two speakers tire the audience with continuous speechifying. It is much pleasanter to listen to short speeches interspersed with readings, song and prayer than to the old style of lectures above alluded to, and if those who conduct or take part in the meetings are animated by the true spirit, as these ladies are, the meetings are more effective. It is likely that these "Temperance Evangelists" will find pretty nearly constant employment in Ohio this winter.

CHARLEY ROSS.

More About the Connecticut Boy—Reasons for Believing That He is the Long Missing Child.

A special dispatch from New Haven, Conn., to the Philadelphia Times, says the excitement over the supposed discovery of the Ross boy, which has been running high for the past few days in that vicinity, reached fever heat Saturday afternoon in the arrest of a professional and idiotic tramp named Mrs. Bradley, near Newtown, with the boy. His description coincides exactly with that of the Ross boy, excepting in the color of the eyes, which are hazel instead of dark brown. The authorities, after fully considering the important question, discharged the woman from custody. A man living here who followed the woman after she was released, found her in a negro's hut near Newtown. She was closely questioned by him, and said she had been tramping after work for a year, and the child was her own. She calls him Edward McClellan Bradley, after her maiden name, her husband having separated from her. The boy answers questions well. He says he used to live in a big city and go to church, and used to be rowed on a large body of water. This gentleman is confident that the boy is the Ross boy, and intends to have Mr. Ross come on, deeming that the only correct way to test the boy's identity.

NORTHWESTERN RAILROAD.

Concessions Demanded by Allegheny City—Some of the Terms Upon Which the Right of way Will be Granted.

Last evening the sub-committee having in charge the ordinance granting the right of way through Allegheny City to the Northwestern Railway, held a meeting to further consider the matter referred to them.

Mr. Wm. Heagy presided.

Mr. Patterson moved that the Railroad Company be required to bridge all streets crossed, which are now laid out, or may be laid out, and maintain bridges across the same. Carried.

Mr. Cochran moved that the railroad company be required to prepare a plan of property from Spruce to Juniata streets, indicating the line of private property, together with high and low water lines, and also showing the lines of the railroad, leaving a forty foot street, and also indicating the amount of property agreed to be taken, if any.

Mr. Erwin moved, and it was agreed to, that the work of construction be done under the supervision of the city authorities and that such spaces be left open for wharf protection as they may elect.

Mr. Cochran moved that the railroad company be required to pay the sum of —— dollars per year to the city, (the sum to be fixed by the General Committee,) and that they be also required to erect and maintain a passenger depot at Federal street, and also a freight depot between Federal street and Allegheny avenue.

Mr. Cochran was not only in favor of this, but was also desirous that they be compelled to have shops located within the city limits.

Mr. Hampton, who was present, insisted that it would be but just to require the payment of a sum of money annually by the railroad. The Ft. Wayne Company were compelled to pay annually $3,366.66 for their privileges. This company claimed to have plenty of money, and that they are to benefit everybody to a vast extent. Then why don't they generously agree to come forward and plank up their funds and lessen the city taxation to that amount?

Col. Bayne was willing to have it explicitly stated in the ordinance that if the Northwestern Company kept faith with the city no better than the Fort Wayne Road, they should pay $5,000 per year.

Mr. Cochran said it was not the intention to leave any loop holes. They will be tied up so they must keep faith with the city.

The privileges the new road was to receive were recited by Mr. Cochran; this brought up a lengthy discussion, in the course of which the entire Smoky Island case was reopened. Messrs. Hampton and Bayne arguing that subject in connection with the matter in hand.

Mr. Cochran's motion was amended so as to provide that all accommodation trains shall terminate at Federal street, and that all express trains shall stop there; also, that there shall be a station near Belmont street. This motion prevailed.

Mr. Cochran moved that the company be compelled to maintain suitable repair shops in Allegheny City.

This occasioned considerable discussion, Mr. Hartman and others regarding the matter as unreasonable. The motion was slightly amended, so that the road was only compelled to erect its general, and not its only shops here. The time was fixed within two years after the time the road is in operation. This was adopted, and the committee adjourned to meet again on Friday night.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 28½.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 114⅞.

THE whisky cases were being summed up yesterday in St. Louis. The evidence seems very clear against the accused parties, and the cases are being carefully and impartially tried. The conviction of the band of swindlers will do more for the moral well being of the country than the money secured will for the comfort of the Treasury.

THE death of Senator FERRY, of Connecticut, takes from the United States Senate one of its most distinguished members. He was a dignified, able gentleman, who gave earnest attention to his Senatorial duties, even when keenly suffering with pain. An honorable, high-toned, courteous gentleman, he will be missed in the Senate—and the Democrats will gain a member thereby.

"J. B. W.," the correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, whose letter from Pittsburgh appeared in that paper on Saturday, or the unmitigated ass who furnished him the information, can be placed beside Tom Pepper so far as telling the truth is concerned. If the Commercial's correspondents in other cities furnish letters as barren of facts as this one proves to be, certainly very little reliance should be placed on their statements.

THE interest manifested in the Railroad Convention in St. Louis, indicates the vigor with which the Texas & Pacific Railroad enterprise is to be pressed on the attention of Congress. It is, in our view, unfortunate that the lobby influence should need to be invoked in behalf of an enterprise so palpably advantageous to the Government, as well as to the business public. Yet if this must be done, the true method is to display a suitable amount of vigor.

HENRY WILSON is the fourth Vice President who died while in office—GEORGE CLINTON, April 20, 1812; ELBRIDGE GERRY, November 23, 1814; WILLIAM RUFUS KING, April 17, 1853; and now, HENRY WILSON, November 22, 1875. All of their deaths, with the exception of Mr. KING's, occurred at Washington. Mr. KING died in Dallas county, Alabama, a few days after his arrival home from Cuba. The oath of office was administered to him in the city of Havana, Cuba.

THE interest manifested in the models for the improvement of the Ohio River, illustrates the earnest conviction felt in this and surrounding cities, that this great improvement should be urged rapidly forward. The Government is proceeding carefully and cautiously, as is proper, but it is believed that the experiments made during the past year will admit of more positive movements during the next year. The award of a premium for best model was made to Hon. FELIX R. BRUNOT, as a deserved recognition of the great merit of his plan. It it believed to be far superior to the French plan, now in operation in Europe.

THE High School is to be favored with a course of illustrated scientific lectures, Professors JILLSON, FROST and DURLING being the lecturers. The subjects are very interesting, and the lectures will, no doubt, be able and attractive. We particularly like the evidence of progress given in the development of a lecture course. Our High School should have, as part of its regular course, weekly lectures on such scientific and other subjects as will instruct and interest the students. Did our Central Board of Education feel able to set apart a fund to promote a lecture course, it would be a wise use of the money applied.

THE death of Vice President WILSON has doubtless raised the question, with many, whether we have a Vice President provided to take his place. Those who are familiar with Senatorial practice will remember that a President pro tem. is elected, who in case of the absence of the Vice President, presides, or in the event of his death, assumes the functions of Vice President. The death of Senator FERRY, of Connecticut, further complicates this,—many imagining that he was elected President pro tem. It was Senator THOMAS W. FERRY, of Michigan, who was elected, and who will succeed Vice President WILSON in office. The fact that a contingency such as the death of both the Vice President and President pro tem. of the Senate in the interval of a year, raises the question whether some further provision for the supply of deficiencies should not be made.

THE COMMON SENSE OF IT.

It is amusing to notice the changed tone of many journals, which, a few months ago, were denunciatory of Cæsarism. In place of the confident assurance that they were killing GRANT politically, they have learned that they committed a serious political mistake, and really killed off the only argument that had any force, as against President GRANT's renomination. It is the old rule, that if we wish to destroy the prospects of a person politically, we should bring him out and canvass his merits, ad nauseum, in advance of the time when real work is to be done. In the case of President GRANT the operation of this rule was reversed in this: A fight was made against his renomination, at a time when few entertained serious thought on the subject. This onslaught was not against his administration, for it was free from substantial, honest criticism, but against any person being nominated for three successive terms in the Presidential office. As the discussion grew, it became more intense and personal, until it was assumed that the President was an aspirant for a third term, and the horrors of Cæserism were consequently depicted. The result was to familiarize the people with this bugbear,—and having examined it carefully the popular conviction is, there is nothing in it to be alarmed at. Whether they elect a man for one or three terms is their own business, the right and power to do so existing in the Federal Constitution, in the absence of any limiting clause. For any one to impudently say that the people shall not exercise this right, because, previously, they have not chosen to do it, is to set up a dictation that will not be tolerated.

This question has, therefore, resolved itself into this shape: The question of candidacy has been separated entirely from the Third Term question—that is, the Third Term scare is not allowed to enter it—and the capability and availability of the man is now chiefly considered. In this view we have stated, and still hold, that President GRANT stands foremost. We know of but one journal of standing that doubts this. The Springfield Republican thinks he cannot be nominated, and that he will be easily defeated if he is. It was this journal that predicted a grand triumph for GREELEY three years ago—so that, as a prophet, we cannot rely very fully on the Republican. President GRANT has administered the Government so easily, wisely, and smoothly, that those who prefer stability, quietude and peace, to the novelty of changes in the Presidential office, regard him as the best candidate that can be offered. And the number of those who thus think is increasing so rapidly that papers like the New York Herald, which do discriminate, have changed their tone, and are pleading that he should not be nominated—not ridiculing it as an impossibility. These are significant facts. They show that public sentiment is undergoing a change, and that the drift is toward the renomination of President GRANT. We do not assume to foretell the future, but we are very certain that if public sentiment continues to develop as rapidly as it has for a short time past, his renomination is an assured fact.

The influence against it is, chiefly, the monetary issue. There are those who feel bound to custom, and who have an indefinable dread of a Third Term. They regard it, not as in itself dangerous or wrong, but as an innovation upon custom, and as having in it the germ of centralization, or of a Monarchy. Yet against this idea is the fact that the majority of our Presidents were one term men, and that they were about the poorest Presidential material we ever had. We have not, in the past, found frequent changes particularly beneficial; and the memory of this goes far toward inclining the people to let well enough alone. In point of fact there is much absurdity in the idea that the retention in office of a person who is admirably adapted to it, will be fraught with evil. Every four years the office comes back to the people, and a change can be made if desired. Hence the danger is limited to this period of time. We know, in the case of President GRANT, precisely about what kind of an administration we will have,—while a new man must be taken with a large element of uncertainty as to his policy. Thus, so far as the third term goes, its advantages overbalance any supposed disadvantages.

We have differed from President GRANT on the monetary question; yet the legislation we have had, aside from the resumptive feature of the act of last Winter, was well enough. We believe now, that resumption will come through the operation of natural laws, — and not by statutes of Congress. In this, we differ from him; but we admit that he is honest and sincere, and know that his aims are precisely what ours are,—we differing as to the method of attaining that end. As against this, there are so many points in which we agree, and his general administration has been so largely beneficial to the country, that we have in these reasons which fully account for the tendency in favor of his re-nomination. The most his enemies can say is that he will be beaten if nominated. A short time since they said he could not be nominated,—now they tacitly admit he can be. A step more, and they will concede his election.

VICE PRESIDENT WILSON.

HENRY WILSON, Vice President of the United States died, in the City of Washington, yesterday morning. Those who knew most of the malady under which he was suffering, conceded that the attack, under which he suffered for a week or more, would terminate fatally. It was a spinal affection, which reached up into and affected an overworked brain, and his impaired vitality was unequal to the strain put upon it. He was one of our many overworked statesmen, and has really been an invalid for five years, or more, and yet, from the nervous character of his affection did not,—possibly could not,—exert control over himself, and so toiled at his work on the "Rise and Fall of Slavery" until his wearied brain was overtaxed to an extent that did not permit it to resist the encroachments of disease. Yet Mr. WILSON did not do so much as many another, who has lived to a ripe old age. He was not an easy, facile worker, and the demands upon him, in the station he filled, severely taxed his powers of mind. He was ambitious, and sought to measure up to the ablest in the Senate, and thus toiled beyond his capacity, reaching, by means of strenuous effort, a position such as some others easily assumed as the result of force of character, and power of mind. He thus exhausted himself, and fell at last from overwork.

The career of HENRY WILSON was noble, and deserving of imitation. A poor lad, he learned what was esteemed a humble trade, and was never ashamed of it. By assiduous application, he acquired the rudiments of an education, and read and studied, as opportunity offered, till he entered into public life. As a legislator, in Massachusetts, and member of Congress, Senator and Vice President, he was ever faithful to his sense of right. He swerved from his party, only on moral questions. In early life, before the anti-slavery movement assumed the definite and aggressive form which it did in after years, he was a Free Soiler, interested in behalf of human freedom. He was one of the earliest members of the Republican party,—and was, if we mistake not, present at its birth, in this city. Within the party he has always been on the side of right measures and pure principles,—charitable toward those who strayed from the fold, and willing to yield to them, so far as he consistently might,—seeking at all times, to harmonize, and, at the same time, to elevate the party to a higher and better plane. Whatever may be said of the wisdom of his methods, the spirit and aim of HENRY WILSON, particularly during the last years of his life, can only be commended.

He was also active in moral reforms aside from politics. He was an active originator and promoter of the Congressional Temperance Society, which did so much, particularly during the war, toward promoting sobriety among members of Congress. It required decided moral courage to enter upon such work. The war, with its excitements and turmoil, stimulated drinking habits, and the presence of a large army in Washington gave special impetus to intemperance in that city. There were Senators and members, possessed of great intellectual power, who became confirmed inebriates. At last WILSON and others formed the Temperance Society mentioned, and many were reformed. It is noticeable, too, that in a long and honorable career his hands were free from bribes, and he goes to his grave leaving but little property to surviving relatives. He ably, zealously, honestly and purely filled a position of high honor and great trust. The colleague of CHARLES SUMNER, he was not dwarfed by the great powers of that able statesman, but made himself felt and respected as his colleague and official equal. Less eccentric than his colleague, and more uniform and equal, he did the work that fell to him with cheerful readiness, and was equally honored and respected at home. It has always seemed strange that his brilliant colleague, with whom he maintained personally friendly and intimate relations, should have been swerved from the support of the ticket, on which WILSON was a candidate, by his dislike of GRANT.

It will now be gratefully remembered that the Republican party conferred on Mr. WILSON next to the highest office in its gift, and that he enjoyed its emoluments and honors. There were many reasons which led to his selection that were personally complimentary to the man. He was faithful to the party when GREELEY, SUMNER, and others, who were among the anti-slavery leaders, were covertly turning over to the Democracy under the guise of Liberalism. He had been faithful, during the dark days of the war. He was, from the inception of the party, one of its most faithful adherents. He was not the most useful man the party had, but there seemed to be a kind of poetic justice in rewarding his fidelity at a time when others, from whom better things were expected, were unfaithful. He has performed the duties of his high position as well as health would permit,—and now that he has passed away, it can be truthfully said of him, that he was faithful to his conscience, his party, his country, and his God. "Well done, good and faithful servant."

COL. JOYCE'S MOTHER.

She is Living in Chicago in Destitute Circumstances.

(From the Chicago Tribune.)

Col. John A. Joyce, late revenue agent at St. Louis, has recently acquired more notoriety than usually falls to the lot of common-place individuals. His trial and conviction for being accessory to the whisky frauds have received frequent and lengthy notices in the newspapers of this city, and the memorable and gushing speech which he delivered before the Court last Saturday has been especially commented upon and criticised. Nor during the progress of this singular trial have the record and character of the accused escaped mention, and several very unsavory scraps of

have been collected and published. Among others, the story was given in the Tribune a few weeks ago that Joyce had an aged mother in Chicago, whom he had deserted without cause, and who was suffering for lack of the necessities of life. It was further stated that Mrs. Joyce had applied to Commissioner Hoyne for assistance, and, at her request, that official had written to Joyce informing him that his mother was living here in great destitution. The reply was brief and explicit, and to the effect that he had believed for twenty years that his mother was in her grave. If she was dead and with the angels, he was glad of it; if she were alive, he never wished to see her.

This story, published at the time when Joyce was indicted for frauds on the Government, did not lessen, as may be supposed, the unfavorable impression which people had acquired of the man; and, in the minds of many well-meaning persons, his subsequent conviction and sentence to three years in the penitentiary was regarded as a judgment upon him for his brutal and unfilial conduct.

JOYCE'S MOTHER

is still living in this city, at No. 61 Ohio street. Her circumstances are the poorest imaginable. She is entirely destitute, and dependent upon the Relief and Aid Society, since rheumatism has taken such a powerful hold upon her that she is unable to do any work. She occupies a room in the rear of a wretched hovel in one of the poorest quarters of the city. A reporter visited the place and found Mrs. Joyce bending over a miniature stove, wherein was supposed to be a fire, but the absence of heat in the cheerless apartment rendered it questionable. The furniture was extremely scanty, being composed of two broken-down chairs, a pine table and a bed. As the visitor entered and swaying to and fro, over the little stove, and uttering disconnected ejaculations which evidently referred to the misfortunes of her graceless son. It was some time before she recovered sufficiently to answer the inquiries which were put to her. Like Rachel, she refused to be comforted. It appeared, finally, that she had only just heard from some newspaper investigator that her son had been convicted and sent to the penitentiary. For some weeks past she had been bolstering up her courage with the fond expectation that "Johnny" would relent and come to her assistance; but now her hopes had been dashed to the ground by this intelligence. After much persuasion, she recounted

HER SAD HISTORY.

It was twenty years ago that she lived in Wheeling, Va., with her husband and her two sons. Her husband, who was employed as a steamboat hand, went off one day with another woman. Her son John followed him to Cincinnati, and she has never seen him since. After a few months she came to Chicago, accompanied by her other son, and opened a small notion and confectionery store on the North Side, by which she supported herself until the time of the fire. Since then she has kept alive by doing washing.

The old woman's narrative was considerably interrupted by sobs and lengthy digressions. She was quite overcome, not only at the ill-fortune which had befallen her son, but at the prospect of continued suffering on her own part, now that her hope of securing aid from him had been destroyed. It is not probable that she will burden this world much longer, her bodily infirmities being so great and her mind so affected. Doubtless she will be in her grave long before John A. Joyce steps forth from the Missouri State Penitentiary.

MRS. SCHNECK'S TRAGIC FATE.

A Farmer's Wife Murdered for Money—A Blood-Stained Home in Lehigh County.

(From the Allentown Chronicle of Saturday.)

Probably no crime committed in Lehigh county ever created so great an excitement and such universal sorrow, indignation and regret as the murder of Mrs. Joseph Schneck, sixty-two years old, the wife of a wealthy farmer, residing near Hollenbach's mill, in Lowhill township, about two and a half miles from Schneeksville. It appears that the husband left his home about 11 o'clock Friday morning to attend the sale of property belonging to the estate of his brother, John Schneck, at Schnecksville, and that he arrived home again at or a little after dark. He got out of his wagon, and, approaching the house, called his wife by name, but, receiving no response, he went to the barn and there he hid his pocket-book, containing a large amount of money, in some straw. Next he went back to the house and opened the kitchen door, groped his way carefully inside and came upon something lying on the floor, over which he nearly stumbled. Reaching down he caught hold of a cold hand, and, his fears overcoming him, he ran out of the house to the home of his neighbor, Peter Schmick. Schmick collected a company of neighbors, and the party proceeded with lights to Mr. Schneck's home. When the light from a lantern was thrown into the kitchen it revealed a scene of blood most horrible to behold. On the floor lay the body of Mrs. Schneck, near a churn, at which, from the condition of its contents, it is supposed she had been at work when the murderer first struck her; the ghostly face was upturned, the floor of the room was sprinkled with blood nearly to the walls, and blood lay in thick pools near the head, from which it is thought the murderer struck her several times after she was first knocked down. While part of the men examined the body others went into an adjoining room, where they found a desk broken open, likewise the drawers, and the contents scattered promiscuously about. Mr. Schneck could not tell positively whether or not any booty had been obtained by the murderer, that having been undoubtedly the object in part. It is probable that Mrs. Schneck had from three to five dollars in money stowed away in a coffee-pot she used as a receptacle for the ready money she might have occasion to use in her household management, and that was found to be empty last night. He had from four hundred to five hundred dollars in silver hid away in the barn, but of this his wife was not aware and the murderer did not get it. No neighbors were found this morning who could testify to having seen anybody go into Schneck's house yesterday afternoon, and thus far the affair lies in mystery as to its perpetrator. But it must have been committed before dark, as the body was cold, and the condition of the blood was such as to indicate that it had lain for some time when Mr. Schneck returned from the vendue, he fixing the time of his getting home at or about dusk. Saturday morning there was a large gathering of people at the house, and a thorough search of the premises was made. In looking under a porch at the side of the house, Dr. Josiah Kern, of Siegersville, found an axe, and the condition of the axe proved that it had done some bloody work. The blade had been washed perfectly clean, but the handle was smeared thickly with blood that had apparently been only a few hours drying. This was the only evidence of the murder found outside of the house. A reward of $1,000 has been offered by Mr. Schneck for the arrest of the murderer.

THREE TIMES DIVORCED.

A Jewish Couple's Quarrels.

In the Toombs Police Court, New York, on Saturday, Rachel Bluestone, a Polish Jewess, preferred a charge of abandonment against her husband. Six years ago Jaffa M. Bluestone married her. A year of happiness was ended with a quarrel, and the wife got a writ of divorce from the rabbi who had married them. The husband went to England and his wife soon followed. They were again married by a rabbi. They lived together for a time, and after a quarrel the wife obtained another divorce. The husband came back to New York, and the woman arrived a few weeks afterward. The couple met, patched up their quarrel, and were again married; but a short time afterward the husband applied for a divorce, and they were for a third time separated. Six months after this Bluestone received some money by the will of his mother, who had died in Europe. On learning this fact the divorced wife determined to sue Bluestone for abandonment.

How It is Done in Buffalo.

Seven women in Buffalo, who started out on a crusade among the saloons, report no gain for the temperance cause. "We are sent here by Jesus," the leader said to the first barkeeper encountered; and he smilingly replied, "The introduction is satisfactory, make yourselves at home." In another place, after praying, they were invited to drink, and when they declined, the proprietor said, "If you drank more beer you'd have more fat on your ribs." After that they spied a young woman in a German restaurant, and prayed for her in a way that was not complimentary. Her brother, who had left her there while he did an errand, returned in time to hear her characterized in the petitions; and he berated the crusaders so soundly that they went home aggrieved.

TERRIFIC CONFLICTS.

The Gladiators of India—The Terrible Fight With Claws.

[From Rousselet's "India and Its Princes."]

Another sort of combat, much more terrible than those already mentioned, and which is only to be seen nowadays at Baroda, is the Nucki-ka-kousti, that is to say, "fight with claws." Here the combatants, almost naked, but adorned with crowns and garlands, tear each other with claws of horn. These claws were formerly of steel, and caused certain death to one or other of the combatants; but they have been abolished as too barbarous for modern times. Those now in use, are, as I have said, of horn, and are fixed on the closed fist with thongs. I was only once present at a combat of this kind, for my heart was so moved by the horrible spectacle that I refused to go again. The wrestlers, intoxicated with bang—liquid opium, mixed with an infusion of hemp—sing as they rush upon one another; their faces and heads are soon covered with blood, and their frenzy knows no bounds. The king, with wild eyes and the veins of his neck swollen, surveys the scene with such passionate excitement that he cannot remain quiet, but imitates by gestures the movements of the wrestlers. The arena is covered with blood; the defeated combatant is carried off, sometimes in a dying condition; and the conqueror, the skin of his forehead hanging down in strips, prostrates himself before the king, who places round his neck a necklace of fine pearls, and covers him with garments of great value. One episode, moreover, disgusted me to such an extent that, without any heed of the effect my sudden departure might have on the Guicower, I at once withdrew. One of the wrestlers, whom the bang had only half intoxicated, after receiving the first few blows, made a show of wishing to escape; his antagonist threw him, and they rolled together on the ground before us. The victor, seeing the unhappy wretch demand quarter, turned to the King to know whether he should let the other rise; but, inflamed with the spectacle, the monarch cried out, "Maro! maro!" (strike! strike!), and the scalp of the unfortunate fellow was torn without mercy. When he was taken away he had lost all consciousness. That same day, the King distributed amongst the victorious wrestlers necklaces and money to the amount of more than four thousand pounds.

THE Marquette Mining Journal states that the lake shipments of ore, for the season about to close, were, up to November 3d, 743,103 tons, against 747,161 tons up to the fifth of the same month last year—a falling off of only 4,058 tons. The total shipments last year were 880,147 tons up to the close of navigation. A comparison of figures at the close of the present season will show a decreased production by at least $100,000 tons.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, November 23, 1875.

Monday is not a "blue day" at the banks, Saturday's business coming in for settlement. This aside, and there was a very general activity in the banks yesterday. A better demand for discounts, and a larger current of business than is usual on Mondays, made it a very cheerful day. There is, however, a considerable accumulation of funds at the banks, and only a moderate demand for discounts. The banks complain of their inability to use their funds to good advantage, and are particularly annoyed at the smallness of the sums asked for in the way of discounts. This fact indicates that business men are pursuing a very cautious policy, not attempting to float more paper than they can conveniently manage. This is, in its way, a good sign. It shows that prudence and care are being exercised, and that our business men are keeping within their means. Yet, withal, the accumulation of deposits is a healthy sign of the times.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1875.

Trade continues quiet, but the outlook is more encouraging; both crude and refined have improved considerable in price within the past day or two, and the tendency continues upward. Crude was quoted to-day at $1,57 1-2@1,60 for shipment and $1,32 1-2 for United and Conduit Certificates. Barge oil, of which there is but little offering in consequence of the suspension of navigation, $1,72 1-2a1,75. Refined has still further advanced, as compared with Saturday; Philadelphia delivery, 12¾a12 1-2c, and Baltimore, 12 1-4c. There has been considerable inquiry during the past few days, and there are but few sellers at quoted rates.

Oil barrels continue dull; city make, $1,25a1,30; countries, $1,15a1,20.

NEW YORK, November 22.—The trade movement was slow in all departments. Cotton goods are in steady but limited demand. Prices for brown sheetings are firm. Plaid prints are in fair request. Dress goods moved slowly. Shawls are dull. Fancy cassimeres and worsted coatings are in moderate request. Foreign goods are very quiet.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, November 22, 1875.

General business continues sluggish, more so than it usually is at this particular time, and it is not likely that there will be any very decided change for the better during the remainder of the year. The demand for all the leading staples continues light, as both jobbers and retailers are carrying just as little stock as they can possibly do with, and the indications are that this hand-to mouth policy will be pretty closely adhered to for some time yet. There have been no important changes in values within the past week, but there appears to be a general downward tendency, and it is having its effect in curtailing trade.

ASHES—Following are the current jobbing rates: Common Soda Ash (48 per cent.) 3¼; Refined do., 58 per cent., 4 cents; Pearl Ash, 8; Potash, 7½a8; Nitrate Soda, 4; Manganese, 6¼; Arsenic, 5½; Flour Spar, 2a2½c.

ALE—Continues dull, but prices remain unchanged; city brands are quoted at $8 for X to city, and $9 to country; XX, $10; India Ale, $11. Half barrels in proportion.

APPLE BUTTER—Is only in moderate supply, and with a fair demand, prices are fully maintained; quotable at 70a75c per gallon, in a jobbing way.

APPLES—The amount in store is exceedingly large, and far in excess of what was held last year. Prices are good, and farmers have sold in place of holding until spring, so that the whole season's supply is virtually put upon the market at once with a depressing effect for the present, but which will be the means of making high prices as soon as the present stock is run off. Choice fruit, in large barrels, $3 to $3,10 by the carload; small barrels, $2,50a2,75. From store, in small lots, $3,25a3,50, with an occasional sale of some fancy at a shade higher prices.

BROOM HANDLES—No. 1 Plain, $15 to $18 per thousand; No. 2 Plain, $12 to $14 per thousand; No. 1 Painted, $22 to $25 per thousand; No. 2 Painted, 20 to $21 per thousand.

BROOMS—The demand continues steady, without change in prices. They are now selling at prices relatively lower than they were a year ago, when prices of Broom Corn are compared, so that no further reduction in prices may be looked for. "Union Factory" prices: No. 2 common, $2,25; No. 3 hurl, $2,50; No. 4 hurl, $3,00; No. 5 hurl, $3,25; No. 6 hurl, $3,50; No. 3 carpet, $3,75; No. 4 carpet, $4,00; No. 5 carpet, $4,25; Steamboat, $3,75; toy, $1,50; whisks, $1,50a2,00 per doz.

BROOM CORN—Selling in job lots only. A little more inferior brush offering the past week, but dealers are selling at unchanged prices. Choice Corn has the preference, and is picked up upon arrival. Long brush or brush that will work up into a hurl broom is getting scarce, and those who hold are stiffening up a little in prices, although no advance has yet been established. No hurl in this market outside of manufacturers. Sales of choice brush that will work up, 8½; fair new medium, 7a7½; inferior, 6a6½. Stocks here not heavy.

BEESWAX—In steady demand at 30c in lots, and 35c in a jobbing way.

BUTTER—Our market lacks animation, and is disposed to drag. Strictly fine, fresh roll will sell, but the difficulty is there is but little offering that is up to the views of buyers in quality. There is an abundance of fair to prime roll offered, which the trade is unwilling to take so long as they can get better. Dealers are tired of buying a package of Butter that they can only sell half of at a fair price and the other half as grease, and shippers would do well to bear in mind that the trade here want fine fresh stock only, and that anything else is uncertain sale. We quote choice at 28a30c; fair to prime, 20a25c.

BEANS—The stock in store here is exceedingly large, and sufficient, we think, to supply this market for the next three months, some houses holding as high as 500 barrels, and they report but few selling. Prime hand-picked navies are freely offered at $1,50 per bush. in round lots, and $1,60a1,65 in a small way. Mediums are not offering at all, as they can't be brought here to compete with navies at present prices.

CIDER—Is quoted at 18a20c per gallon; no charge for packages.

CHEESE—The market has been dull and offish during the past couple of weeks, but prices are still maintained. Prime Ohio Factory, 13½a14c for August, and 14a14½c for September make. New York Goshen, 15c. While, as already stated, the market has been dull for some time past, the feeling prevails that good cheese is good property, and that an improvement, for stock of this character, is only a question of a little time.

CRANBERRIES—The market continues quiet and prices remain unchanged; $10a11 per bbl.

COAL—The general position of the coal trade has undergone but little change since the date of our last report; Anthracite may be quoted at $6,50 per ton, on track, and $7 delivered. Bituminous coal, 5½a6 per bu. for lump by the car load.

CANNED GOODS—Very active, and advancing; some goods entirely out of the market.

2 lb. Peaches	$1,75	Winslow's Corn	$2,25
3 lb. Peaches	2,25	Baltimore Corn	1,50
3 pound extra Peaches	3,00	Marrowfat peas	2,00
3 lb pie Peaches	1,75	Red Cherries	2,25
Lima Beans	2 00	White Cherries	2,50
3 lb. Tomatoes	$1,65a1,75	2 lb. Tomatoes	1,30

COKE—Trade continues dull, in sympathy with the continued depression in pig iron, and no improvement need be looked for so long as it continues; prices remain nominally unchanged; $2,50a2,75 per ton, delivered free on cars in Pittsburgh.

CORDAGE AND ROPE—There is a fair business, about all that can be expected at this particular time and under existing circumstances, but there is no change to note in prices.

CEMENT AND LIME—Following are current rates: Gibsonberg, $1,65a1,75; Fremont, $1,55a1,75; Cleveland, $1,65a1,75. Calcined Plaster—French's Selected, $4a4,25; New York, $3,50a3,75; Michigan, $3,50a3,75. Cement—Youghiogheny, $1,75a2,00; Louisville, $2,2a2,25; Rosedale, $3,00a3,50; Portland, $6,50a7. White Sand, $1,75.

DRIED FRUIT—Some offering, but as yet the movement is light. Choice halves Peaches sell readily at 12 1-2a13c in lots and 13½a14 in a jobbing way. Apples quotable at 9½a11c for fair to choice. Blackberries quiet at 12½a13c. Pealed Peaches, 20a21c.

EGGS—In light supply, and held firmly at 29a30s for strictly fresh. Pickled move slowly at 20a25c per doz.

FEATHERS—Demand fair at 62a64c for choice white live geese. Stocks light.

FISH—Following is the current rates: Extra No. 1 Mess Mackerel, per bbl, $34; No. 1 ditto, $32; Extra No. 1 Shore, $28; No. 1 ditto, $25; Extra No. 1 Bay, $22; Extra No. 2, $16; large 3's $11; Split Labrador Herring, $9; Split Shore Herring, $8,50; Round Shore Herring, $6,50a7. White Fish, $5,75 per half barrel. Lake Herring, per half barrel, $4,50; Large Georges Codfish, 6 1-2c per pound; Boneless Codfish, 7a7 12c per pound; No. 1 Herring, per box, 50 cents; Smoked Bloater Herring, $2,30 per box.

FLOUR—There is a fair degree of activity in the local trade, but there is not much inquiry from the interior, as country mills are supplying the country trade, some of them have a surplus, which is being shipped to this and other points. There is still more or less complaint in regard to the flour made from new winter wheat, a large percentage of which is not turning out satisfactorily, and consequently prime old stock continues to command a premium of 15a25c per barrel. New spring wheat flours, however, are pronounced almost, if not altogether, equal to old, hence there is but little difference in prices between old and new. Quotations may be given in a jobbing way, as follows: Choice old red winter wheat flours, $7,00a7,25; new do., $6,25a7,50; Spring wheat flours, $6,50a7,25. the outside figure for choice Minnesotas; fancy brands of white, $8,50a9; do. amber, $7,50a7,75. Rye Flour, $5,25a5,50. Buckwheat Flour, 2½a3c per pound.

GROCERIES—Coffee was held ¼c up on Saturday, in New York and Baltimore, in anticipation of a Rio telegram favorable to holders, and a stronger undertone was quite perceptible, which developed into an unmistakable buying disposition on the part of jobbers and a corresponding indifference or firmness on the part of holders. We are, however, scarcely warranted in advancing our quotations. Java dull. Sugar is easy for all grades. From New Orleans we have our special dispatch from A. Thomson & Co. quoting choice Molasses lower, and prime 46c. Sugar, prime, 7c. We cannot look for much lower prices on Molasses. Syrups easier. Rice dull.

GRAIN—The receipts and offerings of Wheat have been comparatively light during the past week, and dealers all report that it is difficult to obtain a car load of good, sound new crop in this section of the country; the consequence is that while the former is dull, as the mills are disposed to give it a wide birth, the latter is in demand and selling readily at full prices. Penna. and Ohio red quotable at $1,15a1,20 for common to medium, and $1,25a1,30 for good to prime; old red, $1,40a1,43; new white, $1,30a1,35 for common to fair, and $1,38a1,40 for good to prime. The most of the best new crop is coming from Michigan, from which it is evident that there was less rain there during harvesting than here. The Oat market has stiffened up somewhat in consequence of diminished receipts, but, as yet, there has been no perceptible improvement in prices; Penna. and Ohio mixed, 36a38c; ditto white, 39a41c; prime western white, of which there is none in this market, quotable 42a43c. Corn continues dull; there has been no quotable change in prices; shelled, free in elevator, 63a65c for mixed to prime yellow; old ear Corn, 65a68c on track; new ear, 45a50c. The most of the new Corn offering is soft, many of the ears not being filled, and buyers generally prefer paying the difference for the old. Rye is dull and weak, but unchanged. Sales of Penna. and Ohio at 80a82c; it is claimed that western Rye cannot be laid down here under 85a87c. Barley continues dull, and there is such a wide range in prices, as there is in quality, that it is difficult to quote with any accuracy—it is ranging all the way from 90c to $1,30.

HAY—The market for baled is less active and prices easier, but not quotably lower; upland prairie, on track, by the car load, $13a14; first quality timothy, $19a20; second ditto, $17a18. Loose, from country wagons, $15a22, according to condition and quality.

HEMP—Dull; quoted nominally at $155a160 per ton for Kentucky Rough. No dressed here.

HIDES—The receipts are large, the demand somewhat improved, and prices unchanged. We quote:

Green Salted Cows	7½a 8½
Green Salted Steers, Light	8 a 9½
Green Salted Steers, Heavy	10 a10½
Green Salted Calf	13 a14
Green Butcher Cows	6
Green Butcher Steers, light	7
Green Butcher Steers, heavy	8
Green Butcher Calf	10

LEATHER—Trade steady, and not much change since our last report. Rough Leather, Finished Harness and Sole in good demand. Upper and Calf very low, and slow sale. Light Kips are in better demand. We quote:

LUMBER—Trade in finished lumber continues very dull, and prices are lower now than they have been for several years. Following are the current rates:

Flooring, No 1 per M	$37 00
No 2	28 00
Best No 1 Shingles	4 75
Moulded Weatherboards per M	27 00
Shelving No 1 per M	25 00

Inside Shutters from $4 to $6 per window.
Window Frames and Sash inclusive from $6.50 to $4.50 per opening. Doors from $2.50 to $4.50 each.

MILL FEED—The receipts recently have been increasing, and with only a limited demand, the supply accumulating and a stronger desire to realize, prices are weak but not quotably lower; Bran, per ton, $17a18; Middlings, $24a26; Seconds, Shipstuffs, $20a22; Chopped Feed, $23a25.

NUTS—Pea Nuts dull; sales of old Tennessee at 5½a6c for white; no new here yet. Chestnuts dull, $3,50a3,75 per bushel. Shellbarks, $1,25a1,50. Black Walnuts, 40a50c.

ONIONS—The market is overstocked and exceedingly dull; quotable, in a jobbing way, at $1,50a2 per barrel—it would be difficult to dispose of a round lot at any price.

OILS—We quote an easy market, with a fair demand for Procter & Gambles' extra winter strained at $1,08a1,12 per gallon. Wm. Alexandria & Co's extra winter, 98ca$1,03 per gallon. Proctor & Gambles' No. 1, 85c90c; No. 2, 77a80c. Proctor & Gambles' extra winter miners' oil, 70c per gallon. Carbon oil is lower, but there has been a firmer feeling withing the past few days; quotabe at 10a10 1-2c for 25 or 50 bbls, lots. Linseed oil is firmer.

POULTRY—Live Chickens, 50a60c per pair; live Turkeys, 75ca$1,25, each according to size; dressed Chickens, 12a13c per lb; ditto, Ducks, 13a14c; Turkeys, 15a16c. The receipts are increasing, as is always the case just preceding the holidays.

POTATOES—The demand is increasing, as a great many retailers and consumers are laying in their winter supply, but with continued liberal receipts, and a supply fully up to the demand, there has been no improvement in prices. Sales on track, by the car load, $25a27c for Reds; 33a35c for Peerless; 35a38 for Early Rose, and 40a42c for Peach Blows.

PROVISIONS—The stock of the hog product is very much reduced, and with the exception of Lard, the supply is scarcely equal to current wants, which are light; it will not be long, however, until new crop will be ready to market. No important change in prices since the date of last report. A Chicago paper in referring to the packing outlook says: "The receipts of hogs were quite small for the season of the year, but this fact was due to the "holding-off" policy of our packers so far during the present week, rather than any scarcity of supply if prices suited owners. But, as is usual at this season of the year, there are no doubt a good many hogs in the hands of middlemen, and they cannot afford to sell under 7 cents per lb delivered here. What they will be obliged to do eventually is another matter; but there is no denying the fact that, with corn 25a30c per bushel in the country, hogs can be raised at a profit if sold under 7 cents per pound. It is also true that buyers are purchasing only enough to supply immediate necessities, the future being uncertain; at the same time the great mass of operators are anticipating a drop in prices, and for this reason do not care to stock up. Foreign markets are weak and drooping, and so far this season the purchases for the continent have been unusually small, with hardly anything done for the future. Packers find the shrinkage in hogs considerably larger than in former seasons, the feeding of corn not fully matured resulting in making soft hogs.

WOODEN WARE—In steady demand. We quote Corry M'f'g Co.'s No. 1 three-hoop tubs, $8,00 per dozen. No. 2 two-hoop tubs, $7,00 per dozen. No. 3 two-hoop tubs, $6,00. Two-hoop pails, $1,80; three-hoop pails, $2,05 dozen. Keelers, $1,50 (per nest). Globe Wash Boards, $2,15 per dozen; Common Wash Boards, $2,25 per dozen Round Head Clothes Pins, 90c per box; Kalamazoo (full count) $1,25 per box.

WHITE LEAD—Standard brands quoted at 9½c by the carload, and ¼ to ½c for job lots.

WOOL—There are still some buyers in the country, and the wools are being followed up, and it looks now as though all the merchantable wools that can be had below 45 cent will be taken. These figures (45c) are too high for the prices east, but the number of buyers and reduced amount of wool will stimulate to higher prices. The sales on the market east will not warrant higher figures than those of 40a42c in the country. The price in the east has gradualy hardened for some time past, and the amount of wool that has been selling has been pretty large, and as domestic is still below prices that invite foreign buyers we may still have a market for our wools that will require all our clip.

ALLEGHENY LIVE STOCK MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, November 22, 1875.

CATTLE.

The number on sale, as will be seen, was slightly in excess of that of last Monday, while as regards quality there was little if any difference; of strictly choice beeves, there were none on sale, but with this exception, there was a full supply, butchers had all they could desire in point of assortment, from which to make selections. Some holders made an attempt early in the day to push up prices, but they were not successful, as butchers generally were not in the mood to dicker with those who were thus inclined; there was no improvement in prices, and the market closed a little sluggish, with a number of odds and ends remaining unsold.

The very best on sale brought from 6¾a7c, but, as already intimated, a limited number of extra, possibly a couple of cars, could have been disposed of at an additional ¼a⅜c above quoted rates. Good to prime butcher's stock, of which the supply was equal to the demand, sold at 6a6½c; fair to medium, 5a5½c; common, 4a4½c. Little steers and heifers 3¾a4. Bulls, 3a4½c.

Butchers generally, in view of this being Thanksgiving week, when poultry, oysters and fish, are substituted largely in place of beef, did not buy as many cattle as usual in consequence, and as hogs are getting cheaper, there will doubtless be an increased consumption of fresh pork, which will not be without its effect upon the fresh beef market. The probability is that the demand for butcher cattle will be light until after the holidays, as it nearly always is during the time in question.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

Were in light supply, and the average quality was common, unusually so, there was not, so far as we could learn, a single bunch of either strictly prime sheep or lambs on sale, and the result was a dull market for common stock, the supply of which was in excess of the demand. Prices, taking the quality into contideration, were about the same as last week; prime to extra fat sheep quotable, in a retail way, at 5½a5¾; medium to good, 4½a5¼; common to fair, 3¾a4¼; scalawags, $1,50a2 per head. Choice Lambs, 6½; medium to good, 5 1-2a6; common, $2a2,50 per head. As stated in the GAZETTE of last week, common sheep are likely to be at a discount during the remainder of the year—butchers do not want to pay more than they can obtain for the skins. The stock on sale was reported as follows:

HOGS.

There was a fair supply in addition to those in the hands of regular dealers, there were several small outside lots; however, with the exception possibly of an increased demand, the market was much the same as that of last Monday—prices were without quotable change. Country hogs were retailed out at 6 1-2a7c, gross, and fair to prime western corn fed, 7¼a7¾c.

VEAL CALVES

Continue scarce and in demand, but rates remain unchanged, ranging from 6 to 7c, for fair to choice.

FRESH COWS.

The offerings continue light, and good milkers are selling readily at full prices—$60a65. M. Humes sold 1 for $42. A. Stakeley obtained $50 for one and $60 for another.

LONDON, November 22.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the corn trade, says: Rain has indefinitely postponed much of the autumnal sowing in England. With the bad condition of samples and continued large imports, many markets are one shilling cheaper, but farmers are reluctant to accept lower rates even for poor samples. When foreign arrivals slacken, as soon they must, and rents are paid better, trade at more remunerative prices seems likely. It appears that French reports have been too favorable. No sowing has been done in some districts. This has hardened the price of wheat in Paris and the provinces, although flour is somewhat cheaper. Prices in Belgium are firm, and in Holland stationary. In Germany the markets are inactive and generally unchanged, although at Danzig and Vienna and in Hungary quotations are rather lower. The Russian markets show no change.

L. A. WELSH, Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE stage of water last evening was 5 feet, 6 inches, and stationary. Clear and cold. Business at the landing was fair, but there is plenty of room for improvement.

THE Salt Valley departed on time, as she always does.

THE John L. Rhoads, from St. Louis, is en route, as is also the Rover and Wild Duck.

THOMAS H. JONES, aged 60 years, formerly an engineer on the river, died in St. Louis last Friday.

THE Fearless barges are filling up steadily for St. Louis. Capt. A. McCarty will be found on the landing receiving freight for the Fearless.

THE arrivals include the Carrie Brooks from Zanesville, and the Salt Valley from Ironton, and the towboat C. W. Hornbrook, with a barge of pig iron.

CAPT. ALEX BRITTON, formerly a steamboat agent in New Orleans, is now running the National Hotel, formerly Bartlett House, in Clarksburg, W. Va.

THE Emma Graham is due from Cincinnati to-day, and will return as usual on Wednesday. The Graham appears to make the time without any difficulty.

IN New Orleans, on Tuesday last, Wm. S. Brown, a native of Marblehead, Massachusetts, and for forty years past a resident of New Orleans, died in that city.

THERE was three feet of mud in the hold and one foot on the deck, of the steamer W. J. Behan, sunk in Red river, yet Diver Gwyer has succeeded in raising her.

WE should like to hear from Capt. Danny McAleer in regard to the next coal boat rise, and while he has his hand in, he might let us know when we may look for the ice embargo.

CAPT. THOS. REA, of the Belle of Shreveport, and some other steamboatmen had an altercation on 'Change, in St. Louis on Friday, in the course of which Rea was floored from a well directed blow put in by Captain L. P. Baker, son of Captain John F. Baker. The difficulty originated in the cutting of rates.

A St. Louis dispatch, under date of the 20th, says: The Wild Duck and barges leaves for Wheeling in the morning. The John F. Tolle, of the Pool line, begins loading for New Orleans on Monday, and there may be an outside boat on berth, as everything is not all serene, and rates are shaking. The river falls steadily, with 5½ feet out to Cairo. Hon. Lewis Glenn, of Cincinnati, was a visitor on 'Change to-day The new hull for the Great Republic's machinery is nearly completed, and will be launched in about ten days. Capt. James Good, Superintendent of the Barge Line, left for Memphis this evening, where he will remain during the winter, looking after the interests of his company there. The crews of the upper river boats, which have been laid up for the winter, are arriving daily, and the city is full of boatmen looking for employment.

THE St. Louis Times, in referring to the new Great Republic, says she is, or will be when finished, the largest steamboat in the world. The Times says: In company with several other gentlemen, our reporter visited the Carondelet Marine Ways yesterday, and made a thorough examination of the new boat. She is indeed a monster, being 350 feet in length, by 57 feet beam and 10 feet depth of hold in the lowest place and 17 feet at highest. Her timbers and plank are the heaviest ever put in a steamboat, yet strange as it may seem, it is estimated by skilful and scientific boatmen, that she will draw but 30 inches forward and 4 feet at the stern when completed and ready for business. Her power will consist of a battery of 7 steel boilers 28 feet long by 4 inches in diameter. She will be supplied with the Hartupee compound engines; the two large cylinders being 58 inches in diameter by 10 feet stroke, and the two smaller ones 26 inches in diameter by 10 feet stroke. The power will be larger than any steamer on the Mississippi, and the wheels will also excel all others in size.

HOME NEWS.

Fire at Camden.

Yesterday morning a frame house at Camden Station, near McKeesport, was destroyed by fire. It was occupied by a coal miner and his family, and they lost a portion of their household goods. The house belonged to the coal company whose works are located at that place.

Fatal Runaway.

On Sunday Mr. Alexander Haslett, a well-to-do farmer, who resided near Bakerstown, started to church in his buggy. On the way his horse took fright and ran off, and Mr. Haslett was thrown out and injured internally, so that he expired within a few hours. Deceased was quite well known and respected by all who knew him.

Thanksgiving Dinners at Our Hospitals.

The ladies of the Fruit and Flower Charity intend to provide the usual Thanksgiving dinners at the different Hospitals. The rooms at No. 134 Smithfield street will be open for the reception of articles on Wednesday morning the 24th, from nine to one o'clock, and the ladies ask for contributions of cash, or of turkeys, chickens, meats, oysters, fruits, vegetables, and cakes, to assist them in their work. Persons sending contributions are requested to have them at the rooms before one o'clock on Wednesday.

An Unpardonable Crime.

David Brady, a clerk, will have a hearing to-morrow, before the Acting Mayor, on a charge, preferred by Mrs. Jane McElwee, of having outraged her daughter, Maggie McElwee, a young lady of nineteen, on Sunday night. The accused had for some months past been paying attention to Miss McElwee, who lives on Mulberry street, between Penn and Fourteenth streets. Together they went on Sunday evening to visit a mutual friend. It was while returning and when in an alley near home that the alleged offense was committed. The young lady's screams brought her mother to her assistance, and Brady fled. He was committed to jail.

Beaver College.

Thanksgiving evening at the College in Beaver promises to be an enjoyable occasion to the young ladies, and attractive to all. Besides music, recitations, and the College Messenger, they are to bring out "Johnny Schmoker" and "Mrs. Jarley's Wax Figures."

The school was never as full as at the present time, and hence it is reasonable to conclude that it is worthy of the public confidence.

There will be ample time after the close of the entertainment, which is for the benefit of the Library and Reading Room, for persons going from the city to make the Erie train and return the same evening.

Serious Accident in Allegheny.

About one o'clock yesterday afternoon a gentleman named George Rieger crossed the railroad bridge from Pittsburgh to Allegheny, and in reaching that city, instead of going down the steps there he followed the railroad track and started across the bridge over Robinson street. As he was crossing it a train approached, and before he could get out of the way he was struck and knocked down upon Robinson street, a distance of about twenty feet, and was rendered insensible. He was carried to Dr. Heckelman's office, where it was found that he had sustained internal injuries, and also a severe wound on the head. After his injuries had been attended to officer McIntyre ascertained that he resided with his son on Penn avenue, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, and sent word to him and had the injured man removed to that place. His injuries are considered very serious.

The Wheeling Puddlers.

The Wheeling Intelligencer of yesterday says that on Saturday afternoon last the boilers of that city met at Walther's Hall to hear the report of the general committee appointed at a previous meeting to consult with the manufacturers in regard to the recent reduction of wages. The committee reported that they had met the manufacturers the first of the week at Walther's Hall, when the latter had agreed that the proposed reduction should not take place until the majority of the mills in Pittsburgh paid the reduced rates. This being satisfactory to the committee, a sub-committee was appointed to communicate with responsible persons in Pittsburgh and obtain the necessary information. Messrs. Reis and Carroll, who were appointed by the general committee to attend to the matter, reported at a meeting of manufacturers and boilers held at the office of the Riverside Iron Works on Thursday night, that from the best information to be obtained the 13th inst. would be the proper time for the reduction to take effect here. The manufacturers agreed to the proposition, and according to this arrangement the reduced rates went into operation on Monday last, the 15th inst. The action of the Committee was ratified by the boilers on Saturday, and the difference between the employers and employes may be considered as adjusted for the present.

Temperance Meeting.

The Temperance Alliance held a regular meeting yesterday forenoon, at the Alliance rooms. Gen. Lane presided. A couple of members of the New York Local Alliance, Mrs. McCleese and Mrs. Knox, on their way home from the Cincinnati Convention, were present.

Mrs. McCleese made an address, in which she detailed the mode of operations in her city. There the ladies visit dance-houses, drunkards' homes, conduct mission schools, etc.

Mrs. Knox also made some remarks in which she spoke of the "crooked whisky" investigation in Chicago, and drew some conclusions therefrom which she expressed in strong language.

A motion by Mr. Bradley, to memorialized the Legislature for the re-establishment af Local Option, through a committee appointed for the purpose, was tabled.

A motion was offered and carried for the appointment of a committee to ascertain and report the names of all persons who voted for the Prohibition ticket at the late election. The persons appointed upon this committee were Dr. Kennedy, Gen. Lane, Rev. Caldwell, Jos. H. Turner, S. Spohn and Rev. Hastings.

A committee was appointed to award the prize flag to the banner township. This, it is presumed, is Harmar.

The Alliance will give a dinner at the rooms to the newsboys on Thanksgiving Day, between the hours of two and four o'clock.

Mrs. Hill and Miss Haller were present, having returned from Salem, Ohio, where they have been holding a series of meetings, noticed in another column.

RUN OVER.

A Man Killed by the Cars Near Sewickley.

An old man named McCanion was run over and killed by the Cleveland Express on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railroad last evening, at Roseburgh station, near Sewickley. He was about sixty years of age. The coroner was notified and will hold an inquest to-day. Roseburgh was the scene of a similar accident about a week ago.

COMPROMISE.

The Nation Trust Company's Indebtedness to the County Compromised.

A meeting of the Board of County Commissioners, Controller Warner also being present, was held yesterday to meet Messrs. Shiras and Schoyer, counsel for the Nation Trust Company, who wished to submit a plan for a compromise of the Company's indebtedness to the county. The original amount of this debt was $155,000; $27,000 of this amount has been paid, leaving the present debt, without interest, $128,000. The proposition submitted was that the balance due shall be paid in four equal annual payments, the first payment to be made on June 15, 1876, without interest. This was accepted with the proviso that first mortgage bonds or approved personal security must be given to insure the carrying out of the agreement, and if this is not done within a specified time the agreement is null and void. This security must be approved by the committee of five appointed by the creditors—one by the county, two by the city of Pittsburgh, and two by other creditors.

PLEASANT EPISODE.

Valuable Gifts Most Worthily Bestowed.

Last evening the clerks and employes of the extensive file manufacturing and hardware establishment of Messrs. England & Bindley, paid a most deserving and fitting compliment to the junior partner of the firm, Mr. John Bindley, who, with his bride, have just returned from their bridal tour and settled down to the realities of married life. To the number of some seventy they invaded his residence, and without any undue formality, proceeded to present him, as a token of their respect, esteem and confidence in him as an honorable, fair dealing and just employer, a magnificent book case and escretoire combined, and an easy chair to match it in elegance and beauty. The articles were both on exhibition by the manufacturers at the recent Exposition, and not only attracted much attention and admiration from visitors, but were awarded the first premiums. The gifts were royal in their character and cost the generous donors quite a handsome sum of money. The bride was also honored by recognition in the shape of several elegant gifts from the visiting party. We need not say that the happy groom was surprised upon the occasion, for he always knows what is going on about him and was ready to extend the hand of hearty welcome and hospitality to his host of visitors. A sumptuous banquet was spread and between mirth, music and song the several hours of the evening were most pleasantly passed away ere the guests departed. Mr. Bindley is deservedly proud of this substantial evidence of the good will of those so closely associated with him in the conduct and success of his firm's operations, and so well he might be for no higher tribute to an employer can be paid than to say his employes love, honor and respect him.

The following regular business was then disposed of:

The gentleman stated that Mr. Musgrave has never lost his residence in the ward.

Mr. HOLLIDAY called up an ordinance for a board walk on the north side of Grandview avenue, from Washington to Sherman streets. Laid over.

AMENDMENT TO THE RULES.

Mr. SAWYER submitted the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the amendment to Rule 4, directing the printing of ordinances by their titles in calendar form for the use of members, &c., adopted January 13, 1874, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following rule is hereby adopted as an addition to Rule 4:

Rule 4, Section 12. When any bill upon its third reading and final passage shall receive the votes of a majority of the members of Council present, but not a majority of those elected, such bill shall be considered as laid upon the table, and may be called up for further action at any subsequent meeting of Council.

Ordinance establishing the grade of Spring street, from Lincoln avenue to Larimer avenue. Passed.

Ordinance for the paving and curbing of Sarah street, from Thirtieth street to the city line. Laid over.

HUCKSTERS, ATTENTION!

Ordinance regulating the sale of merchandize by parties in the transportation of the same through the streets, and providing for a license to be obtained from the City Treasurer at a cost of $20. This does not apply to farmers or gardeners selling their own productions.

Mr. H. DARLINGTON moved that the ordinance be indefinitely postponed. The ayes and nays were called and the motion was lost by a vote of 18 for to 25 against.

Mr. BRAUN stated that the object of the bill was to prevent persons from Ohio and Illinois from bringing their produce to this city by steamboat and peddling it through the streets without license and to the detriment of the regular dealers in the city.

Mr. MACCONNELL said that in his opinion the bill would act for the special benefit of a number of Liberty street commission merchants; that every one who brought ten dollars' worth of potatoes to the city would be obliged to take them to a commission merchant to be sold. He did not like the ordinance and would oppose it.

Mr. CHISLETT claimed that as commission merchants pay a business tax to the city, and are therefore a pecuniary benefit to it, they should be protected from bushwhackers who pay neither business tax or license fee.

On motion of Mr. Darlington the ordinance was so amended as to except merchants as well as farmers and gardeners from the payment of a license fee, and it was then referred back to the Ordinance Committee.

THAT INVESTIGATION.

The Charges Against Mr. Davis—Continuation of the Investigation—The Further Testimony Taken—The City Engineer Not Implicated—All About the Legal Points—The Point Bridge—Some Interesting Episodes—The General Custom in Making Surveys.

Last evening the committee appointed to investigate the charges against Mr. Charles Davis, City Engineer of Allegheny, resumed the business in hand, in the committee room, at City Hall. In addition to the members of the committee, there was a goodly attendance of spectators, who seemed to take a lively interest in the proceedings. The substance of the testimony taken was as follows:

THE M'KEESPORT TRIP.

Mr. J. D. Strouse was the first witness called. He testified that he was an officer of the United States Tin Plate Company in the year 1873. The works of the company are located at McKeesport. Had Mr. Carlisle up at McKeesport with him one day in regard to some filling. They had had a difficulty with a contractor in regard to an excavation, and he asked Mr. Davis one day if he knew of an engineer who could go up and measure it. Mr. Davis said Mr. Carlisle hadn't much to just then and could go up. Mr. Carlisle went up in the morning and came back in the afternoon. He paid Mr. Carlisle $10. He didn't know how the city paid Mr. Carlisle, and did not think there was anything wrong in employing him; did not know whether Mr. Carlisle paid that into the City Treasury or not. The work was done some time in January. I was a Councilman at the time.

THAT "PRESENT" STORY.

Mr. C. C. Boyle was next called, and testified as follows: Am acquainted with the City Engineer; Mr. Carlisle was a member of the Engineer Corps; took measurement of the cellar of my property on Federal street, and made calculations of the excavation. He took the measurements, I think, about noon, and made the calculations in the evening. I paid him $15.

Mr. James Gilleland testified: Am acquainted with the members of the Engineer Corps. They never did any work for me. I never paid them for any work. Never paid them money in any way for labor done. They never did any work for me; never paid them any money that I thought was illegitimate; they never did any work for me; I had a contract with Messrs. Bakewell & Campbell in reference to a plan of lots. After the property come into the city, the city employed an engineer corps to run the streets through the property. Mr. Carlisle was in charge of the work; I was anxious to hurry it through; I told him if he would hurry it through I would give him a nice present. It was not as compensation for his work at all. He was employed by the city to do the work. He (the witness) never interfered with him, and had never paid him a cent of money for work done.

Mr. Wachob wanted to know what the present was.

Mr. Smith objected to examining the witness on outside points. The charge had been made that Mr. Davis had received money for work done on the Bakewell Campbell property. The witness denied & that. That was a sufficient answer.

Mr. Wachob contended the question was a proper one. If the members of the Engineer corps had to be paid for hurrying up work it was time it was known.

Mr. Gilleland—"Mr. Wachob, I say that the statement made by you in your charge is false and has done me an injury, and you ought to have it corrected. I never paid the engineers a cent for work done for me.

Mr. Smith—"The charge here is that Mr. Gilleland gave him money to do the work while he was in the employ of the city."

Mr. Gilleland—"And I say that that whole assertion is false from beginning to end. I never paid a cent to the Engineer to do work for me.

DISCUSSING LEGAL POINTS.

Mr. Wachob explained that he merely wished to get at the facts. He had asked for the investigation on the ground of rumors which were afloat. When the Committee was appointed they decided that the charges must be specifically made. He had done this, made the charges, and now desired to investigate all the facts bearing upon them. He thought this was a material fact, as it would show whether or not money passed between the parties.

Mr. Smith contended that the witness had testified that he had not paid Mr. Carlisle or any one for doing the work, but had given him a present for rushing the work through. He (Mr. Smith) contended that was not compensation in the sense contemplated by the charge of unlawfully receiving money for work done on the Bakewell & Campbell property.

This point was discussed somewhat further by Messrs. Wachob, Smith and Huckestine.

A vote was then taken, and it was decided that the question was a proper one, by a vote of 3 to 2.

Mr. Gilleland contended that it was a private matter, and that the committee had nothing to do with it.

Mr. Sholes who had voted in favor of asking the question said it was not material what the amount of the present was, or whether it was money or not. The witness had testified that he had given a present, but it was not as compensation on work done.

A LIVELY INCIDENT.

Mr. Wachob again rose to discuss the question and was proceeding to say that he was prosecuting this investigation not as a persecutor as had been alleged, when some one in the crowd of spectators called out that it was "a persecution." Several members of the committee desired the "outsiders" to keep quiet, and Mr. Wachob continuing to speak grew somewhat emphatic, raised his voice to a higher key, emphasized his remarks by two or three vigorous thumps on the table, and eventually as he warmed up to the work proceeded to draw off his coat.

This movement led to a belief that he was belligerently inclined, especially as it was accompanied by remarks from the speaker that he would have justice, and wasn't to be cowed down, or words to that effect.

The crowd smiled audibly, while several of the members of the Committee, with His Honor the Mayor, who was present to swear in the witnesses, crowded around and threw oil upon the troubled waters, and by pacific words calmed the rising agitation.

Mr. Wachob, as soon as he had an opportunity, explained that the removal of his coat was not an indication of a bellicose spirit, but was merely an effort to relieve himself from the depressing influences of a superabundance of caloric in the room. As the room was a small one, and the crowd a large one, the explanation was deemed satisfactory, and once again order reigned in Warsaw. The gentleman then proceeded to make his argument upon the admissability of the question as to the amount of the "present" given to Mr. Carlisle, and earnestly contended that it was a bit of evidence bearing directly on the matter under investigation.

Mr. Smith stated that while he thought the question was not proper if Mr. Gilliland did not desire to answer it, yet if the witness had no special objection, he thought it would be as well to answer it, and so leave no unpleasant impression concerning the matter.

Mr. Gilliland said he didn't think it was the committee's business, but he would answer it. He paid $300 to Mr. Carlisle. It was not paid, however, in any way for doing the work, or for altering a line, or work for him in any way. Mr. Carlisle did not ask for it. It was given to Mr. Carlisle merely as a present for rushing the work through. The witness was agent for the property, and wanted to get it into market. Mr. Davis was in Europe at the time the money was paid. Gilliland was shown his letter, and after reading it, said that it was correct, and he desired it placed on record.

THE POINT BRIDGE.

A. C. Patterson, sworn—I never employed the City Engineers and never paid them. I employed McHendry to lay out a plot of ground for me, and after running after him for some time he sent me to the City Engineer's office where I got the plan. Carlisle afterward came to me with a bill for $20. I refused to pay it as I had employed McHendry. Carlisle replied that he would make it all right with him and I paid it. McHendry was not and is not an employe of the city. Am sure I did not employ any of the City Engineer's corps. The bill for the plan was made out in Carlisle's name. When I called for the plan at the City Engineer's office it was finished.

Mr. Joshua Rhodes, sworn—Am acquainted with Mr. Davis. Have had work done by Mr. Davis. He made a plan with an estimate of the cost of the new Point bridge. We paid Mr. Davis $750 for it. When I first saw Mr. Davis he refused to do the work, as he was fully employed by the city, unless he could do it at nights. I said that that would do and he answered that he would have to do the work all at nights. It was nearly six months before he had the plan finished, and he explained the delay by saying he had to do it all at nights. Mr. Davis is now the consulting Engineer of the Point Bridge. We are now paying him nothing. Saw him working frequently at nights at the plan; never saw him work at it during the day time. Mr. Davis several times refused to have anything to do with us, as he had no time to attend to it.

Mr. Wachob—Was the money you paid your own or the company's?

Mr. Rhodes—I don't think that is any of your business.

Mr. Wachob—Well, I don't want to intrude, but we would like to know.

Mr. Rhodes—Well, you won't know.

Witness then explained that the bridge now being built was not according to Mr. Davis' plan; only the sub-structure. He was never in the Engineer's office but once, and that was at noon, between twelve and one o'clock. When I consulted with Mr. D. I always either met him at his own residence or my own.

THE BRIDGE PLAN.

Mr. Patterson was re-called and identified his letter presented to the Committee on Saturday evening, and said that Mr. Davis was in Europe at the time the plan was prepared for him.

Mr. W. R. McConnell, re-called.—Never saw any books with which Mr. Davis had anything to do.

R. Wynn, re-called.—Have no knowledge—except from rumor—that any other money was received by the Engineer's employes. I was a helper in taking the measurements on Mr. Boyle's property, and the first time we went down I think it was about two o'clock, and the second time it was about nine o'clock in the morning. We were there nearly two hours the first time, and only about half an hour the second time. Saw the plan, what I supposed to be the Point bridge; at least Mr. Ehlers, the man who was working on it, said it was. I saw him working on it several days during office hours. Am positive it was between eight o'clock in the morning and five o'clock in the evening. Never noticed any others working on that plan.

Father McCarroll, sworn.—Saw Mr. Carlisle survey Brady street. There was an error in the calculations of about $1,000 over what it ought to be on that street. The Engineers admitted the error. It was $1,000 more than should have been collected from the street. The error was discovered. The property owners thought the assessments were very high, and we went to the engineers office to see about it, and they said it was all right. From the figures furnished me there, I discovered the error, and when it was shown to the Engineer it was at once corrected. The error was made in adding up the assessments. The assessments were all corrected. There was another street, Wayne street, there was another mistake. There was a man named Gorman, who owned property there, and he was not assessed nor was the railroad assessed for improving the street. We thought these properties should be assessed, and when it was brought to the attention of the Engineer, he declined to change the assessment. There was a change made on the Gorman property, but not on the railroad property.

INSIDE THE OFFICE.

James Johnston, sworn—Was formerly an employe of the Engineer's office; was clerk there for about three years. I saw the plan of the Point bridge there. I have seen work done on that plan at other than office hours. Mr. Ehlers sometimes worked on it at noon, as he did not go home to dinner. I, and every other employee in that office, have at different times worked until ten and eleven o'clock at night. It has been time and again. In regard to working with the city's drafting instruments, the city don't own but a level or two and a transit; all other instruments, even the tacks to hold the draughts, belong to the employees. Think the office was about as well conducted as it could be. Mr. Davis was always very particular to have any outside work done after office hours. Recollect when C. C. Boyle's lots were regulated. The fee paid for that work was paid into the City Treasury. To the best of my recollection no time, during office hours, was spent upon the plan of the Point bridge.

W. M. Claney, sworn—Have had some work done by the Engineer's corps. Have had four or five plans of property prepared for me. The property was in Pleasant Valley. Went to Mr. Carlisle in regard to doing the work, but he said he could not do the work, as he was employed by the city. He afterwards made the plans for me, at his own house at night. I was not at his house when he did it. There were three plans, and he prepared them from the deed. I paid him in the neighborhood of seventy-five dollars. I called at the City Hall once to see him, but he said I must call at his house, as the plans were there. This work was done about seven years ago, and last year he made a copy of these plans.

THE TROY HILL SURVEYS.

Charles Reed, sworn—I do a great deal of draughting for McHendry, sometimes at his house and sometimes at my house. I do this work at night with my own instruments and he pays me for it. I did some work for Mr. Cowley on Troy Hill under Mr. A. Wynn and Mr. C. Wynn also assisted. I made a plan for Mr. Cowley. We run a street through there in day time for the city and I made him a plan after night. I recollect making a plan of lots, but can't recollect putting in the stakes. I got my data from Mr. Wynn, who was in the employ of the city at that time. I believe those lots were staked out by Mr. Wynn and I assisted him. I believe I got $30 and divided it with the others. A portion of the work on the lots was done during working hours. This is the only time that I did work of this kind. Mr. Davis, I don't think, knew of this matter. It was at the time the Troy Hill district was done. Mr. A. Wynn was the leading party in this matter; I was under him. We did part of the work at noon, and then went back in the evening. Have worked as late as eleven o'clock for the city, and have not received any extra compensation for it. I saw the bridge plan in the office, but did not work on it; have seen Mr. Ehlers working on it during evenings, but never during working hours. Mr. Davis always forbid his employees from doing outside work. Each of the employees had their own instruments, and I use my own set to do the city's work. Never knew of any outside work being done when we were pressed by city work. Office hours fixed by Councils at 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

At this stage of the proceedings, the thoughtfulness of Mr. Wachob was made apparent. A youth of some fifteen summers made his appearance bearing a heavy basket, from which was produced a full supply of Queensware in the line of cups and saucers, which Mr. W. spread out on the table with dexterity. They were soon filled with a rich, unctuous creamy "Garden Grown," and passed around with impartiality to Committee men, witnesses, reporters and distinguished visitors. Even Mr. D. came in for his cup, but he declined, because, as he said, "he did not drink with an enemy."

The way in which the tea disappeared indicated that it was a first-class article. After the drinks all around, the Committee, refreshed, proceeded with business.

Mr. A. Wynn testified that he laid out Bakewell property as far as they were laid off; laid off in the latter part of the summer of 1873. Mr. Davis was in Europe. This was the first work done in the Eleventh ward after the property came into the city. Was done outside the Bakewell property. I don't know whether this work was ordered by Councils or not. I only obeyed orders given me at the office. I laid out the streets parallel to Beaver avenue, which was my base line. In the laying out of Troy Hill district we "pinned" a few lots for Mr. Cowley. We often got dinner at his house, and he would occasionally give us a bottle of wine. We did it more for accommodation to Mr. Cowley, who always kept his house open for us when the weather was cold. We did the work just in odd times, between our other work. I think the time consumed was inconsiderable. I made out no bill, and did not expect to receive pay. Several months afterward Mr. Carlisle gave me $10 for the work. Mr. Davis didn't know that the work was done until some time afterwards, when he was looking at the Troy Hill district plan. Mr. Davis never ordered me to do anything outside of regular city work.

ALL ABOUT PINS.

When we were making the surveys in the Eleventh ward, we worked along regularly; didn't rush it any faster than any other work. We did a little more on these surveys than usual—such as putting in pins, which marked off the Bakewell property; ordinarily we don't do that; my idea at the time was that it was properly city work to run the streets through this property; the only "outside" work in regard to it I thought was the putting in of the pins. These pins would be of considerable advantage to the Engineer, if the lots were regulated soon after they were put down; at the time I believe it was generally supposed that the place would be built up at once, as there was considerable feeling on the improvement question down there; everybody thought the ward would be a little town of itself; I was a candidate for City Engineer in December, 1873.

Mr. Gilleland being re-called, stated that he never ordered the corner pins to be put in. He didn't know they were necessary.

Mr. Wynn continuing, stated that he had run a line for Mr. Wachob by working after hours, and got paid $15. He did not know of anybody getting a gold watch for work done down in that direction.

Mr. Strouse re-called, and being questioned by Mr. Davis, stated, that he had asked Mr. Davis in regard to the work he wanted done at McKeesport. Mr. Davis said he could'nt go himself as he had'nt time. He cited over several engineers and among others mentioned Mr. Carlisle. Mr. Davis very plainly left the impression with witness, that he did not want Mr. Carlisle to do any work that would in any way conflict with his official duties or take up the time belonging to the city.

As it was now half-past eleven o'clock, the committee quit work and adjourned until this evening.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

A Journeyman Tailor Kills His Employer's Son at Coshocton, Ohio.

An unusually brutal and deliberate murder was committed at Cashocton, on the Pan Handle Railroad during Saturday night. A Jew, whose name could not be given by the persons of whom our reporter obtained his information, owns a merchant tailoring establishment in that place. He had a son who at night slept in the store. On Sunday morning the young man not coming around to breakfast, the father went to see what detained him. On entering the store he was horrified to find his son lying prostrate on the floor in a pool of coagulated blood, dead, with his head and neck terribly mangled with a hatchet. The young man's watch was gone and also the key of the safe and about $200 in money.

The murderer, after committing the deed, had deliberately divested himself of his own clothing, and attiring himself in a new suit, and the young man's overcoat, boots and hat, fled, stopping, however, long enough to still further degrade himself—if such a thing were possible—by subjecting the dead body to an indignity.

As soon as the facts became known in the place, intense excitement was created. The clothes left behind, being identified as belonging to a journeyman tailor in the employ of the firm, and his absence, and other facts leading to the belief that he had committed the deed, the people immediately started out in search of him. He was finally overtaken a few miles from the town, brought back and lodged in jail. All the articles mentioned as being taken were found in his possession, thus making the evidence of his guilt indisputable. The people were perfectly wild and made so many threats of lynching him, and were so determined, that it was found necessary to place a guard of a hundred men about the jail.

During yesterday the murderer, (whose name, unfortunately, our informant had forgotten), made a confession. He said that late Saturday night he went to the store and knocked desiring admittance on the pretence that he had the ague. The young man let him in, made him a bed, and did all he could for his comfort. After the young man had gone to sleep, the murderer arose and finding a hatchet, struck his victim first on the back of the head with the poll of the hatchet, crushing the skull. He then hit him twice again with the blade of the weapon, once on the neck and once on the side of the head. Finding that the young man gave no further evidence of life, he proceeded to effect the purpose for which the murder was committed—the robbery of the safe.

It was feared last evening that the large guard that had been protecting the prisoner would be overpowered during the night and the man lynched, and consequently the number was increased.

A murder more brutal and revolting in its cold-blooded conception and deliberate execution rarely blackens the annals of crime.

THE LAW OF EVIDENCE.

Important Opinion Upon the Admission of Evidence—Other Decisions.

In the Supreme Court yesterday morning Judge Mercur delivered an opinion (Justices Agnew and Sharswood dissenting), which is of much importance, inasmuch as it changes the practice hitherto in vogue in this State on the admission of evidence. We give the opinion in full:

Taylor, executor, vs. Kelley. Error to the Common Pleas of Lawrence county.

"The assignments of error are to the rejection of two witnesses. One is the husband of a daughter, the other is the wife of a son of the testator. The wife of the former and the husband of the latter are interested in the estate. Unless the witnesses were made competent by the act of 15th of April, 1868, they are clearly incompetent to testify to the matters for which they were offered. This is conceded. Their competency is sought to be established by the first section of that act. It declares 'no interest nor policy of law shall exclude a party or person from being a witness in civil proceeding. Provided this act shall not alter the law as now declared and practiced in the Courts of this Commonwealth, so as to allow husband and wife to testify against each other, nor counsel to testify to the confidential communication of his clients.' If the proviso ended there, the witnesses would have been competent in behalf of the plaintiff in error, as to matters which occurred in the lifetime of the testator; but it further proceeds to declare 'this act shall not apply to actions by or against executors, administrators, or guardians, nor where the assignor of the thing or contract in action may be dead, excepting in issues and inquiries devisavit vel non, and others respecting the right of such deceased owner, between parties claiming such right by devolution, on the death of such owner.' Thus it appears the same imperative 'shall not apply,' extends to a case in which an executor is a party, as to the prohibiting of husband and wife from testifying against each other and counsel to the privileged communications of his client. The language is neither doubtful nor obscure. Its clear and mandatory edict takes all these cases out of the statute. Evans' administratrix vs. Reed, decided at the present term, was a case in which the action had been brought between persons in their own right. On a former trial both parties had testified, and their evidence had been reduced to writing. On a subsequent trial, after the death of one of the parties, and the substitution of his administratrix, we held the testimony of the decedent, thus taken, might be given in evidence. We considered it substantially as a deposition taken when the party was competent, which is expressly authorized by the third section of the act. That action was not brought by or against an executor or an administrator. The party was clearly a competent witness when the testimony was taken.

The present action was brought against an executor. It was on a contract claimed to have been made with his testators. The right of the witnesses to testify is rested on this act of 1869. It is urged, inasmuch as it declares 'no interest nor policy of law shall exclude a party or person from being a witness,' and the witnesses offered not being directly interested in the event of the suit, they cannot be excluded by the policy of the law. Prior to the enactment of this statute, both interest and policy excluded husband and wife from testifying for and against each other.

We must not overlook the fact that all competency imparted to any witness, by the enacting clause of the first section is entirely taken away by the proviso, in case an executor is a party to the action. It would be no more clearly in the face of the statute to hold that husband and wife may testify against each other, than that they may testify in their own favor when no executor is a party to the action to events which transpired during the life of the testator. Each is prohibited by the same expressive language. The same clause in the enactment made both husband and wife equally competent. The same prohibition in the proviso made them both incompetent to testify in behalf of each other, when an executor is a party.

The language in the statute requires no acuteness to interpret it. An attempt to define its meaning cannot make it more clear. We have no right to assume the Legislature did not intend what they have so distinctly and imperatively declared. We must not search for some occult meaning, as if the language was obscure. We must yield to its language so clearly expressed, in its natural force and effect.

The subject matter about which the witnesses were called to testify is not within the exception to the proviso. It is not the settlement of a claim of right that passed by the devolution of the estate. The incompetency of the witnesses in this case stands as if the act had never been passed. When the Legislature undertook to qualify this statute as they did by the first section of the act of the 9th of April, 1870, they restricted the rights of a party to testify to matters only which occurred after the death of the person whose estate was represented on the trial.

The conclusion at which we have arrived is sustained by Diehl vs. Ernig 15, P. F. Smith 320. That was an action by a daughter against the executor of her father's will. It was held that her husband was not a competent witness to testify to matter occurring in her father's life time. It is also in accord with the spirit and reasoning of Karns vs. Tanner 16, P. F. Smith 297, and Patterson vs. Armstrong et al. 24, P. F. Smith 476. It is true the conclusion at which we have arrived is in conflict with Dellenger's appeal 21, P. F. Smith 425, but a more careful examination of the act convinces us that due consideration was not then given to its provisos. It may be said, however, that Dellenger's appeal was not a common law action by or against an executor, but the distribution of a fund in the Orphans' Court. It was, however, held in McBride's appeal, 22, P. T. Smith, 480, that the word "actions," as used in the proviso, was intended to embrace civil proceedings, whatever their form, as well as actions technically so-called. An action is the lawful demand of one's right in a Court of justice. So in Gyger's Appeal, 24, P. F. Smith, 48, it was held that a distributee is not a competent witness, in the distribution of a decedent's estate, as to matters occurring in the lifetime of the decedent.

A true enforcement of the statute of 1869, requires us to hold that it means what it says when it declares "this act shall not apply to actions, by or against executors, administrators, or guardians." We see nothing in the letter, nor in the spirit of the act so far as it applies to husband and wife, to make one competent when the other is incompetent. It, therefore, follows the learned Judge was entirely correct in excluding the witnesses. Judgment affirmed."

POWER OF ARBITRATORS.

Manhattan Life Insurance Company vs. McLaughlin; error to the Common Pleas No. 1 of Allegheny. Judgment reversed, and judgment entered in favor of the plaintiff upon the award. Opinion by Justice Mercur.

This case is important as deciding that a court can not interfere with a case after it has been given into the hands of referees. In the case in question the parties agreed to submit their case to arbitrators, whose award should be final. The arbitrators found in favor of the insurance company, the plaintiff below, for the sum of $7,860.91. The arbitrators in making their award said that it had been agreed between the respective counsel of the parties, that they should certify to the Court their finding of the facts on which they based their award and that the award should be reviewed by the Court. On exceptions filed by the defendant to the sufficency of the facts thus returned, the Court set aside the whole award and entered judgment in favor of the defendant.

The assignments of error were upon this action of Court. Judge Mercur decides that the written agreement of the parties that the award of the referees should be final takes the power of revision from the Court, and the naked certificate of the arbitrators can not restore that power to the Court. It is in conflict with the rules of evidence, which will not permit a written instrument to be contradicted by parol, except for fraud, mistake or trust. Neither is alleged in this case. It follows then that the certificate of the arbitrators was without authority; the facts therein cited were not legally before the Court, and the Court had no power of revision.

The special allocatur was refused in the case of the Commonwealth vs. John Baldwin et al., convicted of nuisance in Bradford county.

Symptoms of Catarrh.

Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang, the breath is offensive, smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, mental depression, hacking cough, and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are, however, likely to be present in any one case. There is no disease more common than Catarrh, and none less understood by physicians.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY is beyond all comparison, the best preparation for Catarrh ever discovered. Under the influence of its mild, soothing and healing properties, the disease soon yields. The Golden Medical Discovery should be taken to correct the blood, which is always at fault, and to act specifically upon the diseased glands and lining membrane of the nose. The Catarrh Remedy should be applied warm with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche—the only instrument by which fluids can be perfectly injected to all the passages and chambers of the nose from which discharges proceed.

These medicines are sold by Druggists.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Robert McWade's impersonation last night of the character of Rip Van Winkle was distinguished by a grace and finish that made the performance a thoroughly artistic one. He is an actor of refinement, and his rendering of the role was perfectly satisfactory, placing him side by side with Jefferson, who is now playing the same character in London. Mr. McWade's version of "Rip is different in many of its details from the one in which Mr. Jefferson plays. He was supported by Mr. Crompton as Derrick Von Hector, Mr. Dean as Knickerbocker, Mr. Waverly as Lieut. Peter Stuyvesant, Miss Fletcher as Eda, and Miss Hastings as Alice Van Winkle, with the rest of the company in the remaining roles. The play will occupy the boards every night this week, and at matinees on Thursday and Saturday.

Academy of Music.

Miss Putnam played last night before a good house, when it is considered that it was the opening evening of her engagement. She enacted the dual character of Little Nell and The Marchioness in "The Old Curiosity Shop." As the latter she kept her auditors in almost continuous laughter, and was called before the curtain at the close of every act. This city is not visited by many actresses who belong to the light comedy school of which Miss Putnam and Lotta are brilliant exponents. The former is if anything the superior of the latter, and both are unquestionably excellent and favorites wherever they go. Miss Putnam has a very good company, but the support she received from Mr. Bates as Dick Swiveler was particularly excellent. Together they are a host and manufacture more fun than the spectators know to enjoy. Mr. Pratt's Quilp was devilish enough to suit the most fiendish. This evening Miss Putnam appears in "The Daughter of the Regiment" and "The Little Rebel."

Library Hall.

The performance of the opera of "Stradella" by the Frohsinn Society last night drew a large audience. It was well given and highly enjoyed.

Fifth Avenue Theatre.

The military play of "The Texan; or the Wild Rider of the Plains," will have its first presentation at the Fifth Avenue Theatre on Thanksgiving afternoon, at the hands of Kit Carson and his company. It will also be produced that evening and during the balance of the week.

Trimble's Varieties.

The new attractions this week are of a character to maintain the patronage which this theater has been drawing all season. The Claire Sisters, always popular here, are announced for every night.

Professor David Swing.

Professor David Swing, the Chicago Divine, whose heterodoxy created such an excitement some time ago, is the next lecturer in the Library Course. He comes here on Friday evening, and will discourse on "The Position of the Novel in Literature." The Professor—whatever his theological views—is a gentleman of fine literary attainments, and what he will have to say on this theme will doubtless prove exceedingly interesting.

Church Sociable.

A sociable will commence this evening at Trinity M. E. church, corner of Twenty-fifth and Smallman streets, and continue during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

Friendship Driving Park.

Commencing this afternoon there will be two races a day for three days at Friendship Park. The first race to-day will be a trotting match, best three in five, for a purse of $200. Three entries have been made. For the pacing contest for $100 four entries have been made.

Look on This, Then on That.

How vacant and dreary looks the hall door without stained and ornamented glass panelings. The difference in cost is trifling, while the difference in effect is in every way pleasing, cheering and attractive. Leave your order with Wm. Nelson, at 23 Market street.

An Impregnable Position.

Among American remedies, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters occupies what may not inaptly be termed an impregnable position. The foundations of its popularity are laid so deep in the public confidence, its excellence has been so frequently and conclusively demonstrated under the most trying circumstances, and it has been so long known to the public as a standard article, that neither the slurs occasionally cast upon proprietary medicines, nor the attempts of certain inalcoholic nostrum venders to create a prejudice against a preparation with a spirituous basis can affect it. The public recognize in it a safe, agreeable and comprehensive alterative and an invaluable general tonic, a speedy remedy for malarious disorders, and their most reliable preventive. Its reputation is founded, as it were, upon a rock.
